DEFENDS PACT WITH RUSSIA

British Premier Declares His Cabinet Has in No Way Altered Its Position as to Debt Negotiations

WITHOUT SETTLEMENT NO LOAN GUARANTEE GIVEN

Expresses Satisfaction at Condition of Armament Discussion on Way to Attend League of Nations

LONDON, Sept. 2.—"The road is clearer than ever for a real discussion of armaments and national security," Ramsay MacDonald, the British Premier, is quoted by Reuters correspondent as having said to him aboard the train which is taking Mr. MacDonald to Geneva to attend the fifth assembly of the League of Nations.

"Nobody has yet devised a satisfactory disarmament scheme," Mr. MacDonald continued, "but we are nearer it than we were. It is clear that unless a settlement of the debt negotiations is reached there will be no loans or guarantees for Russia."

"A lot of nonsense has been written about the Anglo-Soviet treaty. The whole position of the Soviet negotiations was allowed by their surrender to us. We in no way altered our position. It is as clear as ever that unless a settlement of the debt negotiations is reached there will be no loans or guarantees for Russia."

Mr. MacDonald defended Great Britain's rejection of the mutual guarantee pact, which he said would have only hampered the League of Nations, giving it work which it never would have been able to do; that it also would have closed the door forever to the adherence of the United States and other countries and most likely would have led to the secession of nations now members and probably to certain British dominions.

The Premier, according to the correspondent, said he was emphatically opposed to the application of force in carrying out decisions of the League of Nations, declaring such action would only destroy the League's powers.

CUSTOMS REVENUE SHOWS BIG DROP

FIVE MONTHS LOSS AMOUNTS TO $28,000,000

August Alone Shows Decrease of Over Six Millions Compared With Same Month Last Year

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—Canadian customs and excise revenue during the five months to the end of August was $26,000,000 less than in the same period last year. Total collections during the five months were $79,855,414, compared with $125,877,749 in the previous year. Excise taxes showed the largest reduction, being $17,475,945 less than last year.

Returns for August show a decrease in all classes of customs and excise duties, with the exception of excise duties, which are up over August last year by $1,444.

Customs duties in August were $2,106,199 less than August, 1923; sundry collections $12,044 lower. The net decrease in customs and excise revenue in August, as compared with last year, was $4,945,924.

SOVIET REFUSES TO ACCEPT RESERVATIONS

America Declines to Include Recognition in Matter of Handling Over of Peking Embassy Building

PERKING, Sept. 2.—Russia cannot accept the American reservation to the agreement offered by the diplomatic corps to L. M. Karakhan, Soviet ambassador to China, in turning over the old Soviet Russian legation to the Soviet ambassador, Karakhan said today in returning the American note for the second time to K. Yoshinawa, Japanese Minister to China. Minister Yoshinawa is acting as dean of the diplomatic corps in handling the legation correspondence with Ambassador Karakhan.

The American position was that the action of the United States Minister to China in joining in an agreement to turn over the old Soviet property in advance constituted recognition of the Soviet Government by the United States.

WHITE ROCK, S. D., Sept. 2.—Three citizens were shot and wounded when they interrupted live bandits raiding the Citizens State Bank early today. Those injured are A. H. Koler, his daughter, Helen, and Ed. Borge. All will recover. The robbers escaped with $20 in pennies.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS REDRAFTS TREATY

DISARMAMENT AND SECURITY PACT RECEIVES CHANGES

American Authors Present New Text to M. Herriot—French Premier Given Enthusiastic Greeting

GENEVA, Sept. 2.—Republican Geneva, accustomed to greatness within its borders, rarely gets excited over a distinguished visitor, but tonight it was different. The French Premier, M. Herriot, arrived in the city of the League of Nations, and he was greeted by the most enthusiastic greetings in its history. Hundreds rushed forward in an attempt to shake his hand or arm and in a triumphal parade sought vainly to have M. Herriot come to the hotel balcony and make a speech. The triumphant arrival of the head of the French Government, who had moved from Lyons, was the great popular incident of the day.

But there was another development of great importance. This was the redrafting of a pact for disarmament and security by a committee of its American authors, who are now in Geneva, and presentation of the new text to M. Herriot.

WHISKY AND WINE SEIZED AT TACOMA

Seventy-One Cases of Liquors Allegedly From British Columbia Captured at City of Destiny

TACOMA, Sept. 2.—Seventy-one cases of imported whisky and wine were seized here last night by federal and city officials. The liquor, valued at $1,000, wholesale price, was seized in a raid on a dwelling house in an outlying suburb. S. R. Young, 27, was arrested. He is said to have been the watchman in charge of the contraband, and he is being held for officers of the United States customs service. A large automobile was confiscated.

Officers said that the liquor they obtained in the raid was part of a hundred case consignment that landed here from British Columbia early Monday morning. They assert that the bootleggers now are trying to smuggle in large supplies before the United States rum fleet is in action on Puget Sound.

Three Killed by Explosion
KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Sept. 2.—Three men were killed by an explosion of dynamite in a tunnel on the Southern Pacific construction work on the Klamath Lake route yesterday. The accident occurred in Northern Klamath County. The message gave the names of the victims as Terry McGovern, James White and George Sanders, and said they were supposed to have been asphyxiated by gases created by a dynamite explosion.

Los Angeles Starts Air Line
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—The railroad commission today authorized the Big Bear Air Line Company in San Bernardino County to put into effect a through route from Los Angeles to Big Bear Lake by airplane and airship service. The bus will carry passengers from Los Angeles to Ontario, California, and the journey will be completed from there to Big Bear Lake by air.

Two Deaths From Heat
NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Two deaths and a score of prostrations had been reported today following an intense heat wave which enveloped the city yesterday and which continued today.

QUEBEC RIDINGS REMAIN LIBERAL

ST. ANTOINE AND RIMOUSKI REMAIN WITH GOVERNMENT

Mr. Eugene Fleury Accorded Greatly Reduced Traditional Majority—Mr. Hushion Has 1,000 Lead

GENERAL SIR EUGENE FLEURY ELECTED IN QUEBEC BY-ELUTION YESTERDAY BY EMPHATIC MAJORITY. HE IS A LIBERAL.

MONTREAL, Sept. 2.—Two Liberal candidates were returned in the federal by-elections held today in the Quebec provincial constituencies of Rimouski and the St. Antoine division of Montreal.

In the former Major-General Sir Eugene Fleury, late Deputy Minister of Defence, was elected over his Conservative opponent, Eugene Macdonald, who late tonight returned placed at a round 1,700. In the latter, Ad. W. J. Hushion was returned by a majority of approximately 1,000 over the Conservative, W. M. Birks, of Montreal.

Major-General Fleury thus occupies the parliamentary seat that was held by his father, J. B. R. Fleury, from 1872 to 1878, and again in 1887 and 1898. The seat is traditionally Liberal.

The vacancy which has just been filled by the election of Fleury was caused by the resignation of the late member, L. D'Ambo, who was appointed registrar for the County of Rimouski.

The contest was hard fought, and not infrequently national issues were submerged in purely local issues of local and personal character. General Fleury, in the course of his campaign, explained his position in the seven-year-old controversy regarding wartime conscription, and disclaimed any responsibility for either the act or the administration of it. His opponents assailed him for presenting himself for election in view of the fact that at the age of 49 he had retired from the public service on a pension of $6,000 a year, and that he was now offering himself for further service.

The broader national issues were presented by many of the Government ministers, notably E. Lapointe, who fought hard for the candidate. In the metropolitan division the campaign was conducted with considerable vigor on both sides, and both the Premier and the leader of the Opposition were heard in support of their candidates. St. Antoine was won by the Liberal, returning Hon. W. C. Mitchell. Mr. Mitchell resigned during the last session of Parliament as a protest against the fiscal policy of the Government. The contest thus necessitated was held by both parties to be an even test of the popularity of that policy and was accepted as a "referendum" vote by Liberals and Conservatives. A breach was created in the Conservative ranks by the appearance of two candidates in the St. Antoine division, Mr. Hushion and Mr. Birks. The breach was healed, however, by the withdrawal of Mr. Birks and a straight fight ensued with Mr. Hushion, who had represented the St. Antoine district in the local Legislature, and who was also an alderman of the city, representing the Liberal party.

PRINCE OF WALES STARTS POLO GAMES

ON WINNING SIDE MONDAY, BUT LOSSES SECOND MATCH

Round of Private Parties Keeps His Royal Highness Busy Until Early Hours of Morn

SYBET, N.Y., Sept. 2.—Polo seems likely to be the Prince of Wales' major occupation during his fortnight's holiday on Long Island, as one of his closest friends remarked tonight after witnessing a strenuous game in which the future king took part. It was cooler today and the Prince's fellows on the field played a more intense and accurate game than yesterday. There was no order of precedence. The Prince was merely a polo player and was as strongly blocked by his opponents as were his teammates. It happened that the Prince's team lost 3 to 7, but both were winners.

The Prince is not a veteran polo player, and in making long drives he appears to be handicapped by his slightness of build. Most of his fellow players today were far heavier than he. He is a somewhat erratic player and his accuracy probably will improve.

Tonight the Prince and his party drove over to Tawadoc, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rogers Winthrop, where today in the evening forty persons were present. Tomorrow night he will be one of the guests of honor at a dinner which the governors of the Pipingbrook Club will give to the British and United States polo teams.

SLEEPING SICKNESS SPREADS IN BRITAIN

Epidemic Continues Since February Last, But Death Rate Lower Than Previous Visitations

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The epidemic of sleeping sickness which began in England in February, 1923, has now spread to Wales, and is now spreading to Scotland. The epidemic has extended without a break from the beginning of February until now, the only redeeming feature being the comparatively low death rate. During this period of the epidemic, 4,000 cases of the disease have been reported, and the death rate was 12 to 21 per cent, as compared with 40 per cent of the cases in former epidemics.

SENATOR G. W. FOWLER SUCCEUMBS AT OTTAWA

Former Member of Federal Legislature, Who Took Battalion Overseas, Passes Away

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—Following an illness of lengthy duration, Lieutenant-Colonel the Hon. Senator George W. Fowler died at his local residence at 8:30 o'clock this evening. Senator Fowler was born in Hamilton, N.B., in 1859. He was a member of the House of Commons from 1905 to 1911, and was re-elected in 1911. He took a battalion overseas in 1914. He was called to the Senate in 1917.

C.P.R. Employees Drowned
MONTREAL, Sept. 2.—Word has been received here that two Canadian Pacific Railway employees, living in this city, were drowned, and others had narrow escapes from the same fate, when a Verchere boat in which they were crossing Lake Ontario, on a tour of inspection, was struck by a lumber barge during the storm of Sunday night. The dead are Michael Shea, fifty-eight, master mechanic, and William James, fifty-four, locomotive engineer.

FIGHTING STARTS BETWEEN RIVAL ARMIES OUTSIDE OF SHANGHAI

Germans Make Initial Payment Under Dawes Plan

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Owen D. Young, special agent in charge for reparation payments, officially informed the reparation commission today that the German government had paid into the Reichsbank in Berlin for the account of the agent-general, 20,000,000 gold marks as provided in the schedule of payments elaborated at the London conference under the terms of the Dawes report. Mr. Young will leave for Berlin on Wednesday.

CONFERENCE ON LABOR SITUATION

MINISTER OF LABOR DRAWS ATTENTION TO PROBLEM

Parley Opens at Ottawa Today and Representatives From All Provinces Invited to Attend

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—Reduction of unemployment in Canada during the coming winter is the object of a conference which opens here Wednesday morning under the aegis of the Federal Department of Labor. Nine of the larger employers' associations will have delegates from each of its four divisions. J. H. Thompson, Vancouver, representing the British Columbia and Prairie divisions.

PLANNED ESCAPE FROM WITHIN JAIL

MONTREAL GUARDS GUILTY OF BETRAYAL AND DISLOYALTY

Attorney-General's Department to Demand Maximum Sentence of Life Imprisonment for Culprits

MONTREAL, Sept. 2.—The recent attempted escape from jail of Giuseppe Serafini was entirely planned from within the jail and without outside help, guards within the jail were guilty of betrayal and disloyalty, according to the Attorney-General's Department today. The department is under deep concern for the murder of Henri Cloutier, a member of the Hucheston gang, who was captured in the plot, and the crown will seek the maximum sentence of life imprisonment for those concerned in the attempted break, according to declarations made today by Charles Lacombe, K.C., Deputy Attorney-General. The department is investigating the matter.

U.S. FLIERS ARRIVE AT NEWFOUNDLAND

Reach Hawke Harbor on Flight From Ice Tackle, Labrador—To Speed Up Remainder of Trip

HAWKE HARBOR, Nfld., Sept. 2.—The American fliers arrived at Hawke Harbor at 4:05 o'clock standard time from Labrador. The American fliers, commanded by Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. Erik Nelson, broke through a dense rain and fog and came safely to the water of the bay and tied to the emergency buoy which had been set out for them.

Grand High Priest of Royal Arch Masons Dead

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 2.—Dr. W. F. Kuhn, 74 years old, grand high priest of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of the United States, and a practicing physician here for the last thirty-seven years, was found dead at his home here early today. Death was said to be due to apoplexy. Dr. Kuhn was born in Lyons, N.Y., in 1849. He had obtained his medical degree from the University of Kansas, Kan., and attended the annual convocation of Royal Arch Masons.

Good Roads Convention Gathers at Penticton

Fugitives Numbering Over 100,000 Now Reported Congregated in City and Official Notice Given of Suspension of All Railroad Passenger and Freight Traffic Owing to Military Uses

SHANGHAI, Sept. 3.—General Ho Feng-Lin, Shanghai, Lue Shieh-Yuan's administrative officer, announced this morning through his Chinese secretary, Pak Loh, that fighting between the forces of Lu, Tsuchun of Chekiang Province, and Chi Shieh-Yuan, Tsuchun of Kiangsu Province, had actually begun.

TOKIO, Sept. 3.—Official dispatches received by the Japanese Foreign Office say that civil war has actually begun in China. The Japanese Department announced today that the cruiser Tatuta has left the Sasebo naval base for Shanghai with 150 marines. The cruiser is due at Shanghai at 5 p.m. Thursday and will report to Rear Admiral Nomura, commander of the Japanese Yangtze squadron. Admiral Nomura is a former attaché of the Japanese embassy at Washington.

TO REVISE STATUTES

THE Federal Government has appointed Alex. MacGregor, K.C. of Toronto, a member of the commission to revise the statutes of Canada. Mr. MacGregor fills the vacancy created by the death of Hartley Dewar, K.C., who last revision of the statutes took place in 1904.

LUMBERMEN MEET GOVERNMENT TODAY

Effect of Proposed Increase in Royalties to Be Subject of Conference Here This Morning

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2.—Members of the various associations of lumbermen who met at the Metropolitan Building today under the aegis of the Lumber Council decided to confine the representations which they will make before the government at Victoria Wednesday to arguments for abolition of the present system of fixing timber royalties. The subject of the conference was discussed by the Attorney-General's Department. These facts concerning the conference were disclosed by Mr. Lanctot said.

He made the statement, he said, to dispose of many rumors which were current.

Grand High Priest of Royal Arch Masons Dead

Fatal Flight Over Penticton

TORONTO, Sept. 2.—Manilaugler is now the charge against Fred Bonoma, sixteen, who was arrested at the Canadian National Hotel on a murder charge Saturday, after Nicholas J. Murphy, also sixteen, was killed in an altercation over a bag of pinto, followed by a fat fight. Bonoma was remanded in $10,000 bail.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 2.—Sporadic firing was heard but no actual engagement seen by a messenger who reached Shanghai today from Quin San. Traveling through the country where the forces of the rival Tsuchuns, General Lu Yung-Hsiang of the Kiang and General Chi Shieh-Yuan of Kiang Su, are facing each other, the messenger saw many well equipped soldiers equipped with new guns and many field pieces. Large bodies of Northern troops were moving towards Shanghai, and the belief exists that extensive fighting is probable today.

The so-called Shanghai Independent fleet, which is supporting the Tsuchun of Che Kiang, including the cruiser Hai Chow and half a dozen nondescript craft ranging from gunboats downward, is anchored in the Whang Poo opposite Kiang Nan arsenal, which is one of the objectives of the northerners. The Fukien war craft, supporting the North, is reported in the Chu Han archipelago, off the coast southeast of Shanghai, intending there to intercept any aid Chang Tso-Lin, the war lord of Manchuria, might dispatch to Han-chow by sea.

The Shanghai volunteer corps and the Shanghai defense unit, which include American cavalry and infantry, six armored cars, artillery, a machine gun company and the British Light Horse, are under emergency orders to assume posts at the boundaries of the settlement. In the event of a general retreat of the Chekiang forces upon Shanghai.

In addition, large forces are available from the foreign ships now in the river for the defence of foreign property, making it possible to complete a cordon around the city if necessary. An effort to establish communication with the front by pigeon post today failed. The pigeons taken out by a messenger returned without message.

Railroad Traffic Skipped

An official notice issued tonight suspending indefinitely all passenger and freight traffic on the Shanghai-Nanking railway left the entire community in a fever of expectancy, wondering what would be happening thirty miles away from the city. The Shanghai-Hankow-Shanghai railway was still open tonight, but was being devoted for the most part to military uses and to the moving of refugees, including missionaries, into the city. It is estimated that the native population of Shanghai has been increased 100,000. All native hotels are filled to capacity, while the more wealthy Chinese have been actively securing residential quarters in the French and the international concessions.

Foreign war craft in the harbor tonight totaled twenty. Five more American destroyers arrived from Chefoo this afternoon, while the French cruiser Jules-Ferry, flagship of the French Asiatic squadron, arrived with Admiral Forbet aboard.

Reinforcements Move South

Out of the mass of conflicting reports seething into the city, the most definite one is from Hankow, nearly 200 miles away by rail or river, telling of the continued movement of reinforcements from Chihli southward, including cavalry and several airplanes. The movement of troops, it is reported, has involved the ferrying of rail cars loaded with arms and munitions for the first time in Chinese history.

The hostilities in Kiangsu and Chekiang provinces have caused the rival war lords of those provinces to realize the necessity of raising armies large enough to take control of the long and severe campaign which they apparently consider the situation will bring about, and everywhere in the affected areas a policy of wholesale conscription is being carried out, according to advices from the Interior, Foreign, and War departments. Every man able to hold a gun, carry a bucket or a burden of any sort, are being pressed into service. The country, therefore, appears desolate.

Loss of Mounted Police Supplies on Steamer Kinderley Not Likely to Cause Hardships

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—There is little likelihood of the Mounted Police posts in the Mackenzie district suffering a shortage of supplies through the loss of the steamer Lady Kinderley, recently abandoned in the Arctic. Commander Corlandt Stearns, head of the R.C.M.P., is advised that fresh supplies have been dispatched from Edmonton to replace those lost on the Kinderley. These emergency supplies are traveling down the Mackenzie River by regular Hudson's Bay Company steamer. It is understood that the Hudson's Bay Company also has sent out emergency supplies from Edmonton for posts accessible from that city by water.

The mounted police stations affected by the loss of the Kinderley and which now are being served from Edmonton, are Arctivik, at the mouth of the Mackenzie; Herschel Island, Bailey Island and Tree River. The latter post may have to be closed and its staff transferred to Herschel. The rest will be adequately rationed until the next supply ship goes up the coast.

SAY INDICATIONS POINT TO MURDER

SECOND INQUEST TOMORROW INTO JANET SMITH'S DEATH

Autopsy claimed to show "That Vancouver Nursegirl Was Victim of Fool Play"

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2.—Arrangements have been completed for the holding of the second inquest on the death of Janet K. Smith, starting Thursday. Twenty-five witnesses will be summoned and according to best information, the inquiry is likely to continue for several days. Summons have also been issued for the attendance of the jury. C. W. Craig, K.C., will represent the Attorney-General's Department, and Mr. Alex. Henderson, K.C., the Scottish societies, on whose express request the body of the girl was exhumed.

All things point to a unanimous opinion among the medical investigators that Janet Smith was murdered. It is stated that exhaustive tests were made by the doctors, with the object of finding out if the shot, which is believed to have killed the girl, could have been fired by herself, and that the result of these tests points conclusively to the impossibility of such a thing.

Doctors Make Tests

The girl's height is given as 5 feet 11 inches, and it is stated that the doctors tried to place her arm and hand in a position, holding the revolver, which would point the muzzle of the gun to the place where the bullet entered her head. It could not be accomplished. Several tests, it is asserted, were made by the different doctors, to do this, but all of them failed, and as all of the men engaged are of wide experience, they were able to employ methods which are believed to be most conclusive. Janet Smith was found in the basement of the home of F. L. Baker, July 26, with a bullet wound in her head, and a .45-calibre pistol by her side.

The coroner's court, held on July 25, returned a verdict of "accidental death" on the evidence submitted. At the inquest, a Chinese boy, Wong Foon Sing, stated that he and a twenty-months-old child were the only occupants of the house besides the dead girl at the time of the shooting. He is stated to have heard the shot, and rushed down to the basement and found the body. He is also stated to have given his evidence willingly, although warned by the coroner that he need not give it, in view of a possible subsequent trial of some person or persons.

PREMIER TO LEAVE SOON FOR OTTAWA

WILL ARGUE RATES CASE BEFORE RAILWAY BOARD

Mr. McGeer, K.C., Vancouver, Is Retained by Fruit Growers of Okanagan Valley

Premier Oliver, who expects to leave in a few days for Ottawa, where on September 17 he will attend the meeting of the Board of Railway Commissioners, called for the purpose of hearing protests arising through the enactment of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement, accompanied by Mr. G. G. McGeer, K.C., of Vancouver. It was said yesterday, Mr. McGeer, however, will have no connection with the official representation, to be made at the meeting on behalf of British Columbia, but will appear as counsel for the fruitgrowers of the Okanagan Valley. Premier Oliver will himself present the British Columbia protest against conditions brought about by enactment of the agreement.

While the arguments to be advanced by the Premier will include strong advocacy for more equitable rates on the produce of the Okanagan Valley, the fruitgrowers of that province believe that it would be more to their interests to present a concentrated case of their own transportation troubles before the railway board. Mr. McGeer has had much experience in transportation questions of Canada as a whole and of British Columbia in particular, as he was official government counsel at former rate hearings.

The view of the interior growers was explained to Premier Oliver yesterday by Dr. K. C. MacDonald, labor member for North Okanagan, and by Mr. C. H. Latta, defeated liberal candidate in South Okanagan.

Dr. MacDonald said that the Okanagan fruit men were hopeful that the railway board would see the justice of their claims and take action to reduce rates in time to assist in the movement of the current year's crop. Interior farmers were optimistic regarding the future, he said, and expected better returns for their produce than last year, when production was larger and prices low.

Conference Betokens Unemployment Crisis

President of Trades and Labor Congress of Canada Declares That Fact of Government's Call for Parley at Ottawa on Subject Indicates Realization of Need of Immediate Action—Charges "Big Interests" Foster Out-of-Work Situation to Secure Cheap Labor

OTTAWA, Sept. 2.—"Canada is on the eve of a crisis. On Wednesday the Federal Government has called a conference to consider the question of unemployment. It is restricted as to scope, but the fact that it is called indicates that the Government realizes that there is a reason for it. And that is something."

So declared Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, in a Labor Day address here yesterday. "Outside Canada, particularly in Europe," said Mr. Moore, "the people are taking control of their own destiny. We in Canada are on the eve of a similar revival. If we take a sober and sane view of the situation and act in unity, then we shall reach that point where prosperity so much talked of shall be shared by the masses and not merely by the few."

"There has for years been a movement," continued Mr. Moore, "to foster unemployment. Certain unprincipled employers have realized the fact that when unemployment exists there is likely to be a steady stream of men knocking at the factory door for work. Many of the employers in Canada are sound men, but others are merely endeavoring to make money as large as possible, disregarding the welfare of the country and their fellow-men. This class is maintaining an overflying labor reservoir by fostering unemployment is one of the greatest evils that organized labor is fighting."

Referring to the eight-hour day controversy, Mr. Moore deplored Canada's tardiness in ratifying its stand taken at the Geneva Labor Conference. "To us the eight-hour day means more than just a few hours' more leisure or less work. It means time to devote ourselves to problems that concern all good citizens; time to educate ourselves and time to take an active part in the government of our country."

Thousands of Tons of Sheet Steel to Check Locusts in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 2.—Thirty-nine thousand tons of galvanized steel sheets are to be used as barriers to stop the ravages of locusts in the agricultural regions of Northern Argentina. The Department of Agriculture signed a $5,000,000 contract for the material yesterday with the United States Steel Products Company.

The sheets will be distributed to the farmers, who will erect them when the locusts appear, each farmer digging a ditch in front of the barriers into which the marching locusts will accumulate and be destroyed.

RECALLS FOUNDERING OF PRINCESS SOPHIA

Question of Alleged Marriage of Two Victims Subject of Supreme Court Application

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2.—Echoes of the foundering of the SS. Princess Sophia in 1918 were heard in an application involving the validity of the marriage of Capt. J. Alexander, heard before Mr. Justice Morrison.

The marriage was alleged by Cecil Killam, appearing for the plaintiff, to have taken place in Chicago, but no particulars as to the actual place of the ceremony were forthcoming.

A previous order made by his lordship had not been carried out, which called for the proper efforts to be made to locate the office where the marriage was performed, or a copy of the records, the application of R. Symes, the defendant, relating to the particulars be struck out being therefore granted. The trial, which is set down for September 18 under the title of Williams et al. vs. Fraser, is an action brought by relatives through the alleged marriage against claimants under the will of Capt. Alexander, and involves interest in the Engineer Mine, which has been the subject of litigation since the foundering of the Sophia, in which Capt. Alexander lost his life.

Twenty-Five Injured in Trolley and Motor Crash

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Twenty-five persons, many of them women and children, bound for an outing at Coney Island, were injured today when a trolley car collided with a large motor truck at Brooklyn. The motorist of the trolley car, James Dinnan, was so seriously injured that he may die from the effects of the collision. The motor truck, owned by a milk company, was overturned, but the driver escaped with only slight injuries. The trolley car's 40 passengers were thrown into panic by the crash.

Three Men Buried Alive

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—Three men were buried alive in a cave in at Herwood Drive, Hollywood, today, while terracing a hillside, according to reports to police headquarters. Police details and two companies of firemen were rushed to the scene to dig out the victims.

MURDER CASES REQUIRE MERCY

Board of Three Is Advocated to Decide Questions of Reprieve as Remedy for One-Man Power

PUBLIC SENTIMENT GROWS IN ENGLAND

Sternness of British Justice in Capital Crimes Is Emphasized by Present System—Newspapers Opinion

LONDON, Aug. 30.—With the hanging of Jean Pierre Vacquier on August 12, for the murder, by poisoning, of Alfred Jones, proprietor of the Blue Anchor Inn at Byfleet, with whose wife he was alleged to have been infatuated, several leading English journals are showing a tendency toward advocating a revision of the law which permits the Home Secretary to act as sole arbiter of the question of reprieves.

While the action of the present Home Secretary, Arthur Henderson, in refusing to grant Vacquier a reprieve, despite the filing of a petition carrying more than 40,000 names, has not been subjected to wide criticism, there appears to be a well-defined movement toward relieving the Home Secretary of the sole responsibility of deciding whether the old Mosaic law of an eye for an eye shall obtain.

The Right Honorable Edward Shortt, K. C., who occupied the Cabinet position of Home Secretary for more than four years, and upon whose shoulders devolved the duty of deciding, during that time, whether many of England's most infamous murderers should die, is the principal agitator for a revision of the law.

In an article just published, Mr. Shortt makes the following outspoken pronouncement: "The responsibility of deciding the issue of life and death must no longer rest in the hands of one man."

In support of his contention, Mr. Shortt says that the most terrible duty imposed on any Minister of the Crown is that of deciding whether the King shall exercise his prerogative of mercy. To require the Home Secretary to decide whether a man shall have that taken from him which is beyond recall is hardly just, Mr. Shortt believes.

The former Home Secretary states his belief that an intelligent public is taking more than a passing interest in the trials of murderers and in the subsequent action of the Home Secretary in deciding whether they shall live after sentence of death has been passed. As a remedy for the present system, Mr. Shortt, supported by several leading journals, suggests the appointment of a commission of three, to which would be referred every case calling for the death penalty. This commission would comprise the Home Secretary, the Lord Chief Justice, and the judge who presided at the trial of the convicted murderer. Mr. Shortt admits that the Home Secretary never makes his final decision until he has discussed the case with the two jurists mentioned, but he expresses the belief that were it incumbent upon such a commission of three to decide unanimously whether a convicted murderer should live or die, its decision would be received by the public with greater confidence.

Criticism Infrequent
"In the past," Mr. Shortt relates, "criticism on the action of Home Secretaries in the matter of death sentences have not been frequent, but they have occurred, and have been there have been cases where a section of the public has felt very grave misgivings and doubted whether the sentence ought to have been carried out. It is inevitable that such cases should happen, and as the death sentence when carried out is irrevocable, it is also inevitable that such cases, when they occur, should give rise to deep and bitter feeling."

While public petitions in favor of reprieves are considered by the Home Secretary when reviewing a case, Mr. Shortt declares, a full and careful consideration of all the facts of the case is what really decides the issue. Were this not true, the decision of the arbiter might be swayed by a noisy but small minority, many of whom, Mr. Shortt believes, would sign the petition of even the vilest murderer. In an editorial commenting on Mr. Shortt's article, The Westminster Gazette makes the assertion that "whether or not murder trials are being followed with more intelligent interest, there is certainly a growing public opinion in favor of reprieves. This may be due to the fact that in English law no finding is possible comparable to the Scottish 'Not Proven,' or it may indicate that public feeling is becoming antagonistic to the death penalty altogether."

Fire at Cultus Lake
NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 2.—An extensive fire, covering fifty acres of slash and timber, is burning near Cultus Lake, according to E. W. Wainwright, Crown timber agent, and this morning considerable difficulty is being experienced by a large gang of fire fighters in keeping it in check, due to the rocky nature of the land. According to Mr. Wainwright, the fire started in the slash area of the Indian reserve Sunday afternoon, and is endangering the large timber limits of Ross & McLazan, who have leased the property from the New Westminster Mill.

$30,000 Bail for Matthews
TORONTO, Sept. 2.—Justice Fisher at Osgoode Hall this morning approved of the application for bail of Charles A. Matthews, Jr., former Deputy Provincial Treasurer, who a week ago was committed for trial at the next sitting of the general sessions court on charges arising out of the sale of "Provincial" bonds. Bail was fixed this morning at $30,000 in sureties to be approved by the crown attorney.

VIKINGS INVADING BRITISH COLUMBIA

SCANDINAVIAN PEOPLE WILL OVERRUN PROVINCE

Tourists and Settlers From Northern Europe Coming Here, Says Winnipeg Swedish Editor

MR. REMAR REMIDAV

Hosts of new Vikings, descendants of the wandering seafarers who swarmed over Europe with fire and sword hundreds of years ago, have their eyes on British Columbia at the present time, according to Mr. Remar Remidav, B.A., editor of Swedish and Norwegian newspapers published in Winnipeg, who is now in Victoria. Unlike their terrible forefathers, however, the modern flaxen-haired rovers will be welcomed with open arms, for they will not come as warriors and conquerors, but in the less romantic but more satisfying guise of tourists.

Swedish and other Scandinavian people are tired of touring Europe," said Mr. Remidav yesterday. "They have seen everything the continent has to offer, and now they are turning to this part of the world. I think British Columbia can look forward to a substantial influx of this sort from Northern Europe. The Viking blood is still in them."

The promotion of travel from Sweden, Norway and Denmark to Canada is one of the objects that have brought Mr. Remidav to Victoria at the present time. As editor of The Swedish Canada News and the Norwegian language paper, Norrøn, at Winnipeg, he finds himself acting as agent for large numbers of his countrymen desirous of visiting or settling in Canada. Hence during the past few years he has been travelling extensively about the Dominion securing first-hand information of conditions. Last year he spent a month in Northern British Columbia, and this fall has returned to make closer acquaintance with the southern portion of the Province. While here he will call on the Provincial Government with the object of securing co-operation, if possible, between the departments here and his office in Winnipeg. Assistance of this description would be of great help to him in his work.

In addition to tourists, Mr. Remidav is interested in Scandinavian immigration and supplies intending immigrants into Canada with all information desired. He does not encourage his countrymen to leave their native soil, but he recognizes that there is an overflow population in Sweden, Norway and Denmark that must find an outlet somewhere, and from his own five years' residence in Canada he is convinced that this country is the best in which they could make new homes. So he places himself and his papers at their disposal free of cost and willingly acts as an information bureau and distributing agent for them. In the past year and a half he says he has helped thousands of immigrants at various points in the Dominion.

PRESENT OUTBREAK NOT SERIOUS ONE

THIS IS OPINION OF MR. M. M. BERGER, OF TIENTSIN

Peking and Shanghai Too Well Guarded to Be in Danger—Flood Causes Much Damage

"The Chinese will never be able to secure control of Peking any more than they will Shanghai," Mr. M. M. Berger, prominent Tientsin importer and exporter, said as he passed through Victoria last night aboard the Empress of Australia, en route to New York and London. Mr. Berger is of the opinion that the present outbreak will not amount to anything, as foreign intervention is inevitable and the garrisons at Shanghai and Peking are far too superior for the present Chinese rebel forces to overcome.

"In Peking alone we have a garrison of 15,000 British soldiers, 15,000 American soldiers, 15,000 French and 1,000 of our own men, not to mention gunboats and armaments. I cannot foresee any serious situation arising, as Shanghai is likewise protected and the Chinese do not know how to fight. Why, they even give up fighting in the winter time because it is too cold. So how can one expect them to be successful against such great odds?" Mr. Berger asked.

Speaking of the flood, Mr. Berger said that tremendous damage had been done to the crops south of Tientsin.

"For hundreds of miles around the city the ground is covered by water. The crops are spoiled and there will be famine in the territory south of Tientsin this fall."

Speaking of the export and import business in China, Mr. Berger stated that in fifteen or twenty years there would not be room for the foreigner in this branch of business. The wealthy Chinese merchants, he explained, were educating their sons to fill the positions and do the work that foreigners were doing at present, so that the business was confined purely to the present generation.

"Our sons will have to go elsewhere in search of work," Mr. Berger concluded.

NEGLECTED ROADS

Many complaints have reached this newspaper about the state of some of the roads on Vancouver Island. Particular reference in this respect has been made to the main Island highway all the way from Mill Bay until within a short distance of Nanaimo. That highway is undoubtedly in a disreputable condition. Seemingly there is no attempt being made at maintenance. There are ruts, bumps, loose stones and actual holes in the roadway to illustrate the monument of neglect it represents. The Malahat Road is another highway requiring attention. This road was closed down some time ago to be put into a thorough state of repair. The level stretches were given attention. They are in fair condition now, but the up-grades were left as they were to the Malahat represents a half-baked job and a poor advertisement for the district. A roadway in one of the worst of conditions is that leading from the West Saanich Road to Butchart's Gardens. Since those gardens are the main lure to tourists visiting this city and vicinity it is conceivable that the roads leading to them should be well surfaced and kept in a permanent state of repair. The roadway leading from the East Saanich road to those gardens rivals in disrepair the way in from the West Saanich Road.

Hand in hand with any campaign for the development of tourist traffic should go the maintenance of good roads for the use of these visitors. It is of primary importance, however, that those who are paying for these roads and using them all the year round, should get value for their money. It is only a few years since additions were made to motor licence fees, and the understanding at the time was that the new money secured would be utilized for the maintenance and building of trunk roads. Indeed, the promise was made, if we recollect aright, that the motorists would not judge the additional tax because its imposition would be compensated for by the high class condition in which it was proposed to put the roadways. Whatever may have been the experience on the Mainland, Vancouver Island has still much cause for complaint.

Where money is earmarked for a certain purpose, and where taxes are levied with a certain proviso, the assumption is that the Government will live up to its word. The main Island Highway, over by far the greater part of its mileage, is a matter of concern for the Provincial Government. The Malahat Road was constructed by that Government which is also responsible for its maintenance. The Minister of Public Works should make it his duty to investigate the condition of the roads on Vancouver Island. They are sadly in need of an expenditure out of the funds specifically provided for the purpose, and this section of the Province should not be discriminated against when it comes to the apportionment of the expenditure of taxes raised for the object of providing good roads.

WHITE BREAD

Doctors nowadays have acquired a habit of advising their patients, for a number of specific and sometimes for unspecified complaints, to substitute the use of brown, or whole wheat bread, for white bread. Because white bread is, as a rule, more palatable, it is the more popular and its harmfulness has yet to be proved any way conclusively. Statistics show that the health of the people is on the upgrade, but in conjunction with this fact there are those who maintain that white bread is the cause of a multitude of diseases which shorten life. Cancer is said to be one of these diseases. In connection with this alleged discovery, humanity is being treated more and more to a definition of the usefulness of vitamins as if they were some new discovery. Vitamins have existed, even if unsuspected, since the dawn of human life, and perhaps before.

If white bread is harmful, and possibly it is, then the harmfulness has been caused by the intrusion of the chemist into its manufacture. The whiteness of flour is a matter of mechanical separation. Much of the flour now used is bleached to the dead white which the public taste demands. Yellow flour is subjected to electric treatment, and sometimes poisonous chemicals are used for purposes of bleaching. There are such things as flour improvers which are advertised in milling papers. The qualities of white bread should possibly be estimated according to its characteristics when made from fine wheat mechanically treated and when made from indifferent wheat fortified artificially. It is undoubtedly that the chemical treatment of many kinds of food, including bread, is harmful, and it is the chemical treatment that ought to be the subject of governmental supervision. That is a question of importance to the public health. If doctors, as their recipes would suggest, believe that white bread has deleterious qualities then they ought to be among the first to explain publicly why this is the case and wherein lies the remedy in its manufacture. That is a duty which they owe to the public in any and every health campaign in which they engage.

It is now twenty years since the Agricultural Department of the American Government investigated the question of the qualities of white bread. A series of tests were carried out. These proved that while bread baked from mechanically prepared white flour is superior in nutritive properties to flour with the bran ground up in it, the bran, nevertheless, acts as a mild laxative. Other tests showed that bran, when fed largely to cattle, produced an ill effect on the digestive system of the intestines. In the old stone-milling process the bran being tough was flattened and the germ was ground up with the flour, but it was discovered that this pulverized germ greatly impaired the keeping qualities of the flour. By the roller process it is flattened and sifted out. Probably the disappearance of this germ is what has made white bread less nutritious than it was in the old days. Perhaps, because of its disappearance, the vitamins it used to contain are now lacking.

The point to be made is that doctors are becoming more and more agreed that there are properties in white bread, as at present manufactured, that are harmful to the human system. Chemical treatments are entering more widely into the manufacture of foods, and of drinks as well. The supervision over these treatments leaves a good deal to be desired. White bread is, perhaps, the most common article of diet, yet there is hardly a doctor today who is not constantly advising his patients to dispense with that commodity. The doctors should tell the public as a whole what is their reason for such advice so that the methods of making white bread can be reformed. The medical antipathy to white bread is of very recent growth, so presumably it is "due to some new discovery, or due to the introduction of modern chemical processes in the manufacture of bread. The subject is sufficiently serious to engage the attention of public opinion.

QUEBEC BY-ELECTIONS

In the two by-elections held in the Province of Quebec yesterday, Liberals were returned in both instances. This does not mean any change in the complexion of the House of Commons. Both seats were held by the Liberals as a result of the last general election. Early returns indicate that the Liberal majorities in both cases have been reduced, but this may simply mean that as a general election was held in Rimouski the chief issue was corruption. In the result it can hardly be held to have played a part, inasmuch as Sir Eugene Fiset, the successful candidate, was Deputy Minister of the Department of Militia during the war period and it may be premised that he favored the methods employed to keep the Canadian Divisions in France at full strength.

In St. Antoine the tariff operated as the chief theme of the campaign. It was anticipated that industrial Montreal would have shown resentment at the tariff reductions effected by the present Liberal Government. Such does not appear to have been the case, and the reason is probably because the effect of those tariff reductions have yet to come home to an industrial population. The Liberal strength in Quebec remains unshaken although in the actual vote it has shown some declension. The Government will now be encouraged to bring on the by-elections which are overdue in West Hastings, in Northumberland and in Yale.

The term "psychologues" has been given to ladies who dabble in psychology. The modern cult desires to discover the root cause of everything, and, as one writer expresses it, "who would have thought a few years ago that psychology would become a fashionable pastime, an accompaniment to dancing and cheaper than bridge that girls who seem demure enough on the way to dinner would begin to register reactions with the soup and succeed in 'unburying a complex' before the savory."

The Italian Naval department has been carrying out experiments in the control of ships by wireless currents. By means of a system recently discovered by Signor Flamma, a submarine chaser has been successfully manoeuvred up to a distance of ten miles. It is claimed, too, that the control of the ship is by no means prejudiced by atmospheric disturbances or interruptions caused by other wireless stations. Such control, if capable of wide application, should reduce the toll of shipwreck.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Dogma, whether political or religious, is having a somewhat trying time in these restless, revolutionary days. Nevertheless we are going to be dogmatic just to find out what a feeling of positive assurance is like. We are going to venture to say that Queen Titania never held her court under more gorgeous natural conditions than prevailed on Sunday afternoon at Beacon Hill Park when Lieut. Miller and his band of accomplished musicians entertained an enormous number of people.

What an afternoon of splendor in color and harmony! We hardly expect to look upon its like again this side of the gates of eternity. The mellow Autumnal sun shone benignantly through the trees, and fairies innumerable danced in glee upon the greenward to the sweet music of the band. It was a great and wonderful day for everybody—and it was an especially great and wonderful day for us, for we found out that on that day that even at our period of life romance may be encountered.

Let there should be any misunderstanding we protest that we went to the park with no other thought in our mind than the thought of listening to and enjoying the music. But something happened that made the music merely a fitting accompaniment to a wonderful adventure. We had been sitting on a bench but a few minutes when a bag of candies was thrust into our face and a most pleasant voice invited us to help ourselves. We helped ourselves after noting that the bag of candies had been thrust into our face by a very dainty and most beautifully formed hand.

The reader will please note the fact, that the first advances came entirely from the party of the second part. In fact, we may say at once that practically all the advances came from the party of the second part. Not being Irish, we have never had a way with women. Disposition is not of the bold and dashing kind, the kind that carries hearts and positions by storm. But when we had gathered the courage necessary to make a general survey of the position we found that all the accessories which usually accompany a beautiful and dainty hand were just as beautiful and dainty as the hand attached to them.

This daughter, I live with sweet, fresh face and bewitching eyes, had not lived long enough in this terribly desolate and desolate world to become distrustful of men and their ways. Yet she was sufficiently discreet too. She seems to have reached the conclusion that this thing had gone far enough to warrant investigation, for she began an inquisitorial examination into our circumstances.

She wanted to know in the first place if we were married, and that fact being properly established, whether we had any children. The children being admitted, how many of them were there. Seven? That seemed a large number. There were only three in her family, and that was considered the proper standard for all families. Then the names of the children had to be given, and were duly noted. The names as given did not correspond with the number. Why the omission of one name? Gone to a far country? Flanders? Couldn't we go to that far country and bring him back? Then we explained to her without raising any apprehension in that guileless mind that there is an assurance that while we cannot bring back those who have gone to a far country we can go to them.

Then the conversation took a new turn. Was there a bear in the park? Did we know where it was, and would we escort her to the place? Was the bear dangerous? If it were only a baby bear, how did they get it away from its mother?

At this point a rather embarrassing circumstance developed. It appeared that the young lady had an attendant. This attendant had been sitting at her side all the time, paying no attention whatever to what many brothers would have considered grossly irregular proceedings. But she cocked her ears at the mention of the word bear. He, too, wanted to make the acquaintance of that bear. The ceremony of introduction was duly performed, and the bear and the mountain goat duly admired.

Then, as the afternoon was drawing to a close, the very fascinating young lady informed us that she "lived on Johnson Street, that her name was Edna and her brother's name was Bobby, and would we have the kindness to escort them to the street car. Bobby said, huh! he knew the way to the street car. Edna is six years old and Bobby eight, and they are both going to school this week.

The editor of one of the most powerful and most influential of American newspapers says the people of the republic are very sentimental. That is given as a reason for the halting manner in which justice is administered and for much of the apparent social lassitude as revealed in the proceedings of exceedingly busy divorce courts.

None of these peculiarities of temperament have anything to do with us, and we shall refrain from comment upon them. But we are concerned about the sentiment that is being displayed about that young man of charming manners and engaging personality, our own Prince. Under the quota law we cannot even poke our nose over the border of the republic, while this young man, who should have no official existence at all if the principles of republicanism were rigidly applied, is pressed with enthusiasm to the heart of the republicans, and received with honors more impressive than royal honors. And how modest the young man is in the midst of it all! He naively asks the press to make it as easy as possible for him!

If the men of the United States do not watch out, the women, who have votes and a majority, may decide to erect a monarchy on their republican institutions and make the Prince of Wales their first king!

Canada's Story Day by Day

By MILDRED DAVIS

On September 1, 1857, the famous navigator, Jacques Cartier, died in France. It was the anniversary of the day in 1535, when he had first turned the prow of his ship into the great and beautiful river, the Saguenay. How often he must have recalled the emotions of that day. The life of the Saguenay towered a thousand feet above his little vessel, casting a dark and forbidding shadow. The awe which entered into the souls of his men filled them with such fear that they hesitated to advance upon the river. They were, indeed, too terrified to land. Cartier was just forty years of age on his first voyage of discovery to America. If he was born at St. Malo, France, and grew up to be a skillful mariner. His portrait, which hangs in the town hall of St. Malo today, shows a bold and courageous countenance, with fearless eyes. In 1534, when he first succeeded in reaching the newly-found continent, he spent the summer in exploring about the Gulf. He advanced northward to the St. Lawrence and considered himself on his way to China. In 1535 he returned again and visited the Indian village of Stadacona and Hochelaga, even then trading places of importance. Later on he spent the winter at Quebec. Cartier earned a patent nobility through the importance of his discovery, and, deciding to end his life in peace and comfort, he purchased the Manor of Les Roches near the town of St. Malo in France. The manor house, which still stands, was a simple and substantial farm dwelling.

Golf and Industry

Sir—Re your issue of 29th inst., containing a letter from Mr. Frank Andrews and underlined on the subject of golf and industry, and being very pessimistic, speaking for undoubted, permit me to say that I am not now, and have never been, opposed to golf or any form of sport when paid for by the taxpayer. I have taken some pains to explain the fallacy that golf as a municipal enterprise is, or can be made, self-sustaining, and defy any golf enthusiast to prove a case where the fee charged will permit participation of more than a very small proportion of ratepayers, who by all sorts of chicanery are being invited to endorse it and be stuck for the inevitable loss.

I venture to say that if half the attention and half the money invested in golf was devoted to industrial enterprise, the welfare of the citizens at large would be better served. The old adage that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, is being replaced by a new adage that all play and no work makes Jack somewhat of a fool.

When we have so little to do and so much to talk about and the words optimist and pessimist are bandied about so much, it appears to me that an optimist is a person who gets very tired of pessimism, and a pessimist is one who has been imposed upon by an optimist who has told him he is going to be a very fine day tomorrow and it afterwards turns out to be wet.

CANADIAN SPINNER AHEAD OF COASTER

DUE SEPTEMBER 15, FOUR DAYS AHEAD OF LATER

Both Vessels Have Big Cargo Capabilities for Victoria—Other Vessels Are Reported

The C.G.M.M. Canadian Spinner, being by far the faster steamer, has already passed the Canadian Coaster in the Intercoastal service. The Canadian Coaster left Montreal ahead of the Canadian Spinner, but the latter vessel has overtaken her and even passed her en route. According to latest advices the Spinner will arrive here September 15, four days ahead of the Coaster. The former vessel has approximately 300 tons of cargo for discharge here.

The latest report on the Canadian Coaster's position is that she arrived at Galveston on August 27 and will arrive here September 20. The Canadian Spinner left the Panama Canal August 25 and will arrive here September 16. It was also reported at the local office yesterday that the Canadian Farmer arrived at San Francisco August 28 while the Canadian Rover left Nanaimo 1:30 p.m. on August 29. The Canadian Trooper arrived at Nanaimo on August 29 while the Canadian Observer is reported to have left Astoria 5 p.m. on August 28. When the Canadian Coaster arrives here she will be placed in the California service, while the Canadian Spinner will be the first of the two new freighters to inaugurate the Antwerp service, which is being discussed at Montreal now.

Mutual Brokers Charges Remanded Until Monday

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2.—Three additional charges of theft are being laid jointly against the Mutual (Vancouver), Limited and George H. Snow, the manager of that firm, according to Mr. Max Grossman, who is directing the prosecution on behalf of the Attorney-General.

He is already facing conspiracy charges and was remanded for hearing until Monday in police court. A charge against the Mutual (Vancouver), Limited, was also remanded until that date.

The three new charges being laid are: That G. H. Snow, between June 1 and June 23, did steal $1,577.09, the property of the Victoria Hothouse Association.

That G. H. Snow, between June 1 and June 23, did steal $708.49, the property of the Victoria Hothouse Association.

City &amp; District

Resigns Post Here—Mr. J. D. O'Connell has resigned the district management of the Excelsior Life Insurance Company.

King's Daughters—The Ministering Circle of King's Daughters will meet next Friday at 3 p.m. in rest room, Hibben-Bone Block.

Malvern House—A reception to students and parents at Malvern House School, 1924 Ridgway Avenue, will be held Thursday, Sept. 4, at 8 o'clock.

Sewing Classes to Wait—The meetings of the sewing society of the Women's Auxiliary to the Jubilee Hospital will not begin until the first Wednesday in October, instead of this week, as first planned.

Kumtiks Club—Owing to the intervention of Labor Day, there will be no luncheon of the Kumtiks Club this week. The first business meeting of the club after the holidays will be held on Monday evening, Sept. 8, at the Alexandra Club.

Overseas Club Luncheon—The Overseas Club will hold its first meeting of the season on Wednesday, September 3, at Spencer's private dining-room, the occasion to be in the form of a luncheon gathering instead of the usual tea.

Colfax Rebekah Lodge—An apron tea has been arranged for Thursday, September 4, by Colfax Rebekah Lodge, the affair to take place at the home of Mrs. Hay, 684 Dallas Road. There will be guessing contests, tea and reading and booths for the sale of home-cooking and candy. Tea will be served from three to seven.

Malvern House School—A reception of students and their parents will be held at Malvern House School, Richmond Avenue, Thursday, September 4, at 8 p.m., for the occasion of the opening of the school in its new quarters, 1024 Richmond Avenue. The day pupils will be registered and graded for the new term.

Institute to Meet—The Garden City Women's Institute will hold a meeting on Thursday at 2:15 p.m. in the Marlborough Hall. The principal business of the afternoon will be the distribution of prizes to the successful competitors at the Ward IV flower show, who are invited to be present to receive their awards.

Make Appointment—Mr. D. A. Henry, a resident of Esquimalt, was last night appointed assistant janitor at Lampton Street School by the Esquimalt School Board, which held a short session, presided over by the chairman, Major Sisman. There were 48 applications received for the vacancy on the staff, and Mr. Frank Elston was promoted to chief janitor of the school.

S.O.E. Have Picnic—Happened beyond all anticipation was found at Ross Bank on Labor Day by members of the Sons of the Empire, Sons of England, who were called upon to disperse to to over 100 people. With perfect weather, launches running like clockwork, stokers keeping an ever ready supply of hot water, the ice cream man thinking more of the kiddies' desire than of the tickets, and the sports committee smart and efficient, the day was virtually perfect. The S.O.E. team defeated the visitors, and then came a surprise. The lodge secretary, Mr. A. E. Brindley, was twice challenged to run the hundred yards, and in each race vanquished the audacious ones and carried off the candies. Indoor baseball brought down twilight, together with a vote of thanks that this picnic was the best in the history of the Sons of England in Victoria.

GARDEN PARTY TODAY TO FURNISH WARD

Miss Agnew Leading "Schubbum," Rockland Avenue, for Camosun Chapter, I.O.D.E., Fete

Mrs. Albert Griffith is to open the Camosun Chapter, I.O.D.E., garden party, which is to be held this afternoon at "Schubbum," Rockland Avenue, the beautiful grounds very kindly lent for the purpose by a former regent, Miss Agnew. For weeks past the members have been making plans for this event, and the forecast of the weather man for a fine day was the last assurance required last evening to give all the workers every confidence that the affair would be the success hoped for. The proceeds, it is stated, are for the furnishing of the chapter's room in the new Jubilee Hospital building, so the appeal for support is made in a worthy cause.

Mrs. Andrew Wright, the regent, or Miss Agnew, will be glad to take the names of any who wish to arrange for tables of bridge and mah jong. In the garden will be found, in addition to the natural delights of sunny lawns and the glory of late summer flowers, clock golf and the attractive stalls of work.

CONSERVATIVES HOLD GAY FETE

SAANICH PARTY POLKS CELEBRATE VICTORY OF MEMBER

Attend Rally at Brentwood—Cheer Mr. R. H. Pooley and Hon. T. G. Coventry to Echo

Labor Day, September 1, 1924, will always be remembered as a red letter day in Conservative circles in the provincial constituency of Saanich, and there's a worth-while reason, too.

Over fifteen hundred participated in the big party outing which the Saanich Liberal-Conservative Association conducted at the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Wallace at the Anchorage, Brentwood Bay.

One of the features of the party outing was the magnificent reception accorded the new Conservative chief, Mr. R. H. Pooley.

Hon. T. G. Coventry, newly elected Conservative member for Saanich in the Provincial House, was given the first opportunity to greet his constituents since the June election. The picnic was held to celebrate the signal Conservative victory in the riding, as well as to enable all party folks in the constituency to meet together in a big field day. Hon. Mr. Coventry, who addressed the gathering briefly, was tendered a flattering ovation. Mr. C. H. Dickie, Federal member for Nanaimo, also spoke to the large crowd.

A lengthy programme of field and water sports provided great enjoyment for the young and old, who enthusiastically participated in the canoe racing, swimming race, greasy pole, tug-of-war and other competitive games. The success of the athletic contests. About two hundred prizes were divided between the winners of the various events.

Dancing followed in the evening.

Opening Day Features

The opening day in the English Football League First Division games, played Saturday, was featured by the pronounced success of the Manchester United team, who were twenty-two points at stake, and of this number sixteen went to "away" clubs and only six to sides playing at home.

Only two eleven were successful on their own field, and, oddly enough, they were both London teams. West Ham United and Tottenham Hotspur, while their opponents hailed from Lancashire, Preston North End and Bolton Wanderers.

League Champions' Triumph

Perhaps the most attractive game on the card furnished the biggest surprise of the day, namely, the victory of Huddersfield by 3-1 at Newcastle. The margin must have come as a shock to the Cup holders and their supporters. True, it was the first time since the season, but at the same time the triumph of the champions may be taken as an indication of their continued all-round strength.

Cardiff City was probably satisfied with a point at Burnley, and will again doubtless keep in the forefront.

Bury and Leeds

The new teams to the First Division did not manage a win between them. Leeds United, however, came out best, because the players held Sunderland to a draw at home, whereas Bury was beaten, two clear goals, by Manchester City. Of the two visiting teams, Sunderland may be regarded as the stronger combination, hence the merit of Leeds' performance.

Aston Villa's Success

The two Liverpool clubs were opposed by Midland teams, with totally different results. Aston Villa was at Everton, and won 2-1, while Liverpool went to St. Andrew's ground and won 2-2 against Birmingham.

The Villa's big win may not be classed as a surprise, but it is evidence of the strength of this club this season, and at the same time shows that Liverpool is still a long way off their championship form of two years ago.

Good for London Teams

The three First Division clubs in the Metropolis had a happy opening afternoon. Tottenham Hotspur beat Bolton Wanderers, 3-0; the Arsenal won 2-0 at Nottingham; and Huddersfield United had a 1-0 victory over Preston North End at Upton Park. This means six points, six goals and none lost to the credit of London clubs.

Newcomers All Won

The Second Division results brought out the fact that the four teams new to this section all won their games.

Portsmouth's victory was perhaps the most noteworthy of the day. The team had to travel to South Shields, where a 2-0 score was returned.

The Wanderers of Wolverhampton also won, by a 1-0 victory at home, only a short distance from home—at Hanley—where they beat Port Vale 3-1—quite a good start for the "Wolves."

Chelsea came through all right, but only by a goal, against Coventry City at home. Middlebrough once more sampled Second Division football by a 1-0 win over Barnsey.

Derby in Evidence

Derby County had the most convincing win in this section, 4-0, over Hull City. The County made a splendid effort to reach the First Division last season, when the club finished equal with Bury on points, but lost promotion on goal average.

The Wednesday of Sheffield has started off with a win away from home, 1-0 against Crystal Palace, and may yet return to the First Division. The club several years ago was one of the most popular teams when associated with the premier division, with a first-class ground at Hillsboro and very wealthy.

In the South

Bristol City inaugurated their return to the Southern Section of the Third Division with a 2-1 win at Abberly.

Plymouth, Argyle, who have finished second during the last three years—to Southampton, Bristol City and Portsmouth—opened their campaign by drawing at Norwich.

Millwall, however, won 3-1 at home to Bournemouth, who had to be voted into this section. Up to a certain point last season, Millwall was heading straight for promotion, but fell down on the final lap.

Swansea was another club that found the going too strong for them. On Saturday, however, the team did well to beat Swindon Town 2-0.

Up North

Nelson's return to the Third Division was marked by a revenge Southport by a goal. The team has been strengthened by the addition of several well-known players, and is almost certain to make a running for home once more.

Rochdale, beaten on the post by Wolverhampton for the championship last season, just managed to draw at Hartlepool for a start. Hartlepool was one of the clubs that had to apply for re-election at the end of the campaign last May.

Broken Hearts

Heavy scoring characterized several of the games in the Scottish League. The Hearts and Dundee have engaged in many lively tilts in their day, and the Tynecastle men will not forget their latest visit to Dens Park in a hurry. The home team won by 6-0, while on the same ground last season the Tayside players won by 5-1.

Another heavy scoring game on Saturday was the event at Greenock, where Partick Thistle beat Morton by 6-1. This is a surprise, indeed, because the Thistle would have done well even to win, apart from the big score.

Celtic Win—Rangers Draw

The unexpected happened in both games where the Rangers and Celtic were concerned. Kilmarnock was the visiting side at Dumbarton, and did far better than anticipated in drawing with the champions.

The Celtic were at Brockville, where they got the better of Falkirk by 2-1. A casual observer would have voted for a Rangers' triumph and a Celtic draw or defeat, but the prophets were wrong this time.

Six goals were scored at Airdrie, where the United and the men frae Aberdeen each scored three.

Third Lanark received a bad setback at Airdrie, where the Cup holders won by three clear goals.

Interesting Game

The meeting between Cowdenbeath and St. Johnstone—the two new clubs in the First Division—was an interesting affair. The game was played in the Fifeshire town, where the Perth men won 2-1.

Hamilton Academicals again did well by winning 1-0 against Raith Rovers.

Queen's Park also came out on top with a home win over the St. Mirren. Followers of Scottish football generally are pleased to note the "Good Old Queen's" keeping their end up.

Celtic Player for Bolton

Joseph Cassidy, the noted Glasgow Celtic and international forward, has been transferred to Bolton Wanderers at what has been described as a "phenomenal fee."

The deal has created a sensation in Scotland, although it was known that Cassidy and the Celtic officials have not been on the best terms of late.

Cassidy is undoubtedly a player of marked ability, either at centre forward or inside left. During the past two seasons, at least, he has been the mainstay of the front rank. Time and again he brought his side safely through by his generalship and shooting powers. No Celtic player since Jimmie Quinn's day has done such work as Cassidy has accomplished for the club.

Loss of Players

That there are many soccer players in the Newcastle district anxious to shine in good company is evident from the fact that over four hundred young men applied for places on the United's new Swifts' eleven.

The Swifts will be composed of local amateurs, and the idea of the management is to train recruits for their senior eleven. Games have been played in order that the officials may discover promising talent.

Villa Captain Remains

Frank Moss, the Aston Villa captain and international right half-back, has settled his differences with the club, and thus remains with his old team. The trouble arose over a second benefit for the player, and this has been satisfactorily settled.

Scottish Players in U. S. A.

A number of prominent Scottish soccer players have left for the United States. Following the departure of Muirhead (Rangers) for America come news of the going of Ballantyne (Partick Thistle), McNab (Morton), an international right winger; Paterson and McMillan (Dunfermline).

GOVERNMENT ENDS POULTRY CONTEST

FINAL COMPETITION FINISHES
THIS MONTH

Overlapping of Effort by Federal and Provincial Departments Is Reason for Stop

This month will see the retirement of the British Columbia Government from the poultry field in so far as its operation of the International egg-laying contest is concerned, according to an editorial announcement made in the current issue of The Agricultural Journal, the official publication of the Department of Agriculture. Overlapping of effort between the Provincial and Federal authorities is given as the reason for the Government's action. Following is the announcement:

"The close of the Thirteenth International Egg-Laying Contest on September 25, 1924, will bring to an end a series of educational efforts on the part of the Provincial Department of Agriculture with a view to demonstrating the egg-laying possibilities of flocks of poultry and the cost of production, together with the determination of the most advanced feed rations for a commercial flock.

"The reason for discontinuing the contest is that within recent years the Federal Department of Agriculture has established contests in each of the nine Provinces of the Dominion, operating them in conjunction with the system of Experimental Farms. These are conducted on lines very similar to those prevailing at the Provincial contest, and to avoid overlapping the Department of Agriculture at Victoria has decided to leave this field of endeavor to the Federal Department, to be carried on under a Dominion-wide policy.

The Original Contest
"The first International egg-laying contest was opened at Hastings Park, Vancouver, in September, 1911, under the joint auspices of the British Columbia Poultry Association and the Vancouver Exhibition Association. For the second and succeeding years the Provincial Department of Agriculture took over the work, and the place of holding the contest was transferred to the Willows Park at Victoria, so that the supervision might be more readily effected by the chief poultry instructor.

"The inauguration of this undertaking was an epoch-making event in the history of the poultry industry of North America, as it was the first of its kind on the continent. At first there were six birds to a pen, but no effort was made at trap nesting, and the results did not demonstrate the individual accomplishments of the several birds in the pen. During the last few years pens have consisted of two birds only whose individual performances were shown.

"Throughout thirteen years the poultryman in charge of the contest has been Mr. W. H. Stoyan, who has proved himself a capable and obliging husbandman, always ready and able to give information and advice to visitors."

Raybone's Crew Wins Feature Event of Regatta at Elk Lake

The J.B.A.A. oarsmen held one of the most successful regattas for many years at Elk Lake on Labor Day, and in the opinion of their coach, Dan O'Sullivan, the class of rowing was better than any they have shown since before the war. In nearly every race there was a close finish.

There were five crews entered in the club four-oared race, which was won by Raybone's crew after some very fine rowing, although the best race of the day was that in the senior doubles, in which Lock and Brindley beat Travis and Raybone by half a length.

The officials in charge of the regatta were as follows: Referee, R.

The Marriage Handicap

By RUBY AYRES

The story thus far:
Martin Hackworth, rich, powerful, a man of affairs, married a country mouse of a girl and soon repented of the bargain. Rachel's shy nature shrinks from the habits of his London friends, and soon he is alone, going home only for week ends. On one of his visits he finds an anonymous letter waiting him. It is a dangerous thing for a man to neglect a young and attractive wife. The message vaguely intimates him, although he despises such a method of conveying a warning. He knows his wife has few friends; she spends most of her time with her sister Isabel, who lives close by. While he is combating the suspicions which form in his mind, Stephen Todd, an elderly bachelor, a neighbor, calls in with the tragic tidings that Isabel has died of a heart attack. Rachel is supposed to be attending a village concert with her sister, but she has been told to this effect, and presently Martin discovers that the concert has been postponed to a later date. He is his wife, and where has she been if not with her sister? He demands the truth from her on her return, and when she admits to her story the accusation rushes out into the night. The anonymous letter had been a childhood friend, who offers sympathy. One of the things that has bothered Rachel is her husband's friendship with her cousin, Constance Matillon. Rachel and Martin have not words over this and over Rachel's refusal to tell where she was the night of the tragedy. Martin returns to London, Rachel asks Theo to meet her. Martin is jealous by going about with Theo. He is really the one who is in love with an aunt, Mrs. Gainsford, and goes to see her.

CHAPTER XXII

A Mistake

Martin Hackworth had spent a curious week since he had parted with his wife. The passionate anger and resentment in his heart had changed to a queer feeling of stubbornness.

He was in no mood for business. The unpleasant discoveries which he had made down in the country seemed to have thrown his spirit, easy life out of joint. He even stayed away from his cousin until a week after his return to London as he rang him up.

"Martin! You are back, then! Is anything the matter? I was afraid you might be ill. Martin returns to London, Rachel asks Theo to meet her. Martin is jealous by going about with Theo. He is really the one who is in love with an aunt, Mrs. Gainsford, and goes to see her.

"I didn't want to plague you with my troubles." There was a little pause; then Constance said reproachfully: "Isn't that unkind?"

"It's not meant to be, my dear. I'll come to dinner tonight if you ask me."

"You know you need never wait to be asked."

Martin hung the receiver up and turned away, frowning.

Why had he said that about being worried? Constance would want to know all about it now, and suddenly he realized that he did not wish to tell her. A man could not discuss his own wife with another woman, even if that other woman was a well, a very great friend.

He dressed reluctantly and arrived at her flat late.

"I ordered dinner for eight," Constance said as she greeted him. She was wearing a soft, black gown (Martin liked black), and there was no sign of Miss Porter.

She indicated the most comfortable chair in the room, and patted its soft cushions into shape.

"Sit down. I'll mix some cocktails."

Martin watched her silently until she offered the little glass with its amber-colored liquid; then he drained it.

"My love for you, Constance," he said absently.

He had said the same words dozens of times before, and meant nothing by them, but tonight the color flushed her pale face, and for an instant she faltered before she answered:

"My love to you, Martin."

She came to sit on the broad arm of his right.

"And now tell me what has been worrying you?"

Her hand rested lightly on his shoulder, and the soft silk of her sleeve brushed his face.

"Business?" she asked.

"No."

"I must guess again, Martin. It isn't Rachel, is it?"

They hardly ever spoke of Martin's wife, and there was a little hesitancy now in her voice.

"Why should you think so? She is quite well, thank you."

"That is no answer to my question, Martin."

"Well?" He raised his eyes with an effort; unhappy eyes they were, with an unhappiness of which he was not conscious, and beneath the expression of hers he rose suddenly to his feet.

"Don't worry yourself about me. I'm all right. May I smoke?"

"When you've answered my question, and suddenly she slipped a hand through his arm. "Tell me, Martin. We've always been such friends. We've always told one another everything."

He tried to laugh. "But this time, my dear, there's nothing to tell."

She drew away from him, a look of mortification in her eyes.

"That means you won't," she said. There was a little silence, during which Martin found a cigarette and lit it; then Constance said suddenly: "You won't tell me—then I'll tell you, Martin, you're not happy."

Martin made no answer, and she went on quickly: "I've seen it for a long time. Almost ever since you were married—"

"Constance, please!" He tried to check her, but it was too late, and she went on, the eloquence which had been pent up for so long quivering loose at last in an overwhelming torrent.

"Do you think I don't know? Do you think I've been blind? I know you so well. I can read your thoughts so truthfully. Your marriage was a mistake, Martin!"

"Constance!"

She gave a little broken laugh, through which the tears ran.

"Oh, I know how loyal you've been to her, or I should have told you before that I knew. And it doesn't matter admitting it now, because I understand and sympathize. But it's not too late even now, Martin. Marriages can be broken. If you want to be rid of her—"

"I get rid of her, Constance! I think it's the other way about—that she is anxious to get rid of me."

"Martin!"

"It's true," he said roughly. "Though I've only just found it out. It shows how blind a man can be. I supposed our marriage was a mistake. You've always thought so. I know, so it's no use trying to hide it from you. We started all right—"

His voice was jerky and blunt with unwilling emotion. He turned away, his arms flung down on the mantelpiece and his face buried in them.

Constance went to him. She put her arm round his shoulders; she laid her soft cheek against his sleeve. "Oh, Martin, dear—if only I could help you."

He conquered his weakness almost immediately and put her gently away.

"It's all right. I'm a fool, I suppose." He walked away from her and came back. "I hate making a mess of things. I've always prided myself on being so clever—so able to manage my own affairs—and now to think that this—"

She said quickly: "It's not your fault. It's her alone." He lit another cigarette and began to smoke furiously.

"Martin, where is she now?"

"Down home. I was going to bring her to town with me, but she wouldn't come."

"He stopped again with a sense of shame. That was not quite the truth. At the last she had offered to come with him and he had refused to take her. Yes, but she had not wished to come! She had only made the offer to soften his anger towards her; perhaps even it had been a clever move on her part to stay behind—perhaps she had guessed that if she expressed her willingness to obey him he would no longer wish it."

He paced the room again agitatedly.

"So I left her down in the country," he broke out after a minute. "That's a week—no, ten days ago. She hasn't written. I haven't written." And again he stopped, a sudden swift jealousy gripping his heart.

Down in the country! Where the air was cool on one's forehead, and birds sang through the Spring twilight. Down in the country—with whom? Unconsciously his hands clenched themselves into fists. If he could find the man—if he could prove that it was then Freeman.

There was a meek tap on the door. "May I come in?" said a mild voice, and Miss Porter entered.

She looked apologetically at Constance.

"Dinner is ready," she said. "It's nearly ten minutes past eight."

"We'll come at once," Constance said.

She slipped her hand through his arm again as they crossed the hall to the dining room, and there was a slight knowing smile beneath Miss Porter's lowered lids as she took her seat at the table.

It was not a very successful meal. Constance hardly ate anything and there was a feverish look in her eyes. The only person that could suffer her in the tea was Martin. He suffered because she believed he was unhappy, and she hated Rachel for his sake.

Tomorrow—A Second Warning.

MISS E. S. DOWDING

Of the University of Alberta, addressed the botany section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science which is meeting in Toronto.

SMART COSTUME IMPORTED FROM PARIS

THE sleeveless mode was sponsored by the French designer who made the clever costume sketched above.

The skirt is of black satin. The white crepe blouse is embroidered in square motifs of black, white black and white braid edges the girle and the split tube section.

Beneath the slightly flaring skirt is a straight skirt of the plain satin. The tunic frock shows ever-increasing prominence, and will be an important Fall fashion.

PRINCE ERIK'S BRIDE MAKES GOOD RECOVERY

Suffered From Blood Poisoning Following Dental Work, But Is Now Convalescent

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—The bride of Prince Erik of Denmark, formerly Miss Frances Louise Booth, of Ottawa, was reported resting easy and out of danger today by her physician in a local hospital, following treatment for blood poisoning, growing out of a tooth extraction. She was removed from her Arcadia home two days ago, when doctors said her condition was precarious. Prince Erik has been in constant attention at her bedside.

A major operation was performed this afternoon, when surgeons removed pus from the poisoned area. After consultation, physicians issued a formal statement saying that her condition was much improved, that the temperature had dropped from 105 to almost normal, and that the patient was comfortable. She will be able to leave the hospital in a week or so, and no complications are expected.

Exhibition Soccer Won By Ladysmith From Great War Veterans

NANAIMO, Sept. 1.—In an exhibition soccer game, the first of the season, played here on Saturday evening, Ladysmith defeated the local G.V.V.A. two goals to nil.

Neither team fielded what will be their regular warriors during the league games, and Saturday's game was more or less a try-out for new men. The Veterans were reinforced by four new players whom they are reported to have signed up, former members of the Northfield club. They are Perry, Meredith, Reinhard and J. Russell. Wilson, who played with Nanaimo City at the end of last season, was also seen in the Vets' line-up.

At half-time, neither side had registered a goal, but after resumption, Ladysmith did more pressing, and the ball was in Vet territory more than in other places. Rafter, of Ladysmith, was responsible for the two goals, scoring the first twenty-seven minutes after resumption of play in the second half, after Ted Appleby had dribbled the ball almost to the clubhouse, saved it just in time, and then placed it in front of the goal mouth. Rafter stepped in and added the necessary impetus which rolled it into the net.

Seven minutes later Douglas, for Ladysmith, took a swing at the ball from the right corner-post, and, as it sailed in front of goal, Rafter connected with his head, and deflected the sphere into the net for the second goal for Ladysmith.

The teams were:
Ladysmith—Boyd, Anderson, F. Strang, McCormick, A. Strang, J. Heaps, Douglas, Lewis, Davis, Rafter and Appleby.

Veterans—Wilson, Meredith, McCormick, Reinhard, Fuchs, Appleby, Smith, Watson, Stone and J. Russell.

Diaz, once president of the Mexican Republic, ended his life as an exile in Paris.

NEWS OF THE SPORTING WORLD

Golf Championship Is Won by Frank Thomas

Colwood Golfer Takes All the Honors in Tournament for City Title at Uplands, Winning Both Championship and Medal—Two Macauley Men and One Uplands Win Flights—Beasley Best Driver

FRANK Thomas, of the Colwood Golf and Country Club, won a decisive victory on Monday in the final round of the City Golf Championship, played at The Uplands. Veteran of many a hard-fought championship match, Thomas had disposed of his most dangerous rival, A. V. Price, in an earlier eighteen-hole round by two and one, and met W. Brynjolfsson in the deciding thirty-six-hole match. Brynjolfsson is capable of brilliant golf, and played some very low cards in earlier matches, but this was the first important final of his career, and he obviously suffered from "stage fright" to a certain extent, which may have had something to do with the breadth of the margin of victory, ten up and eight to play.

Played Par Golf
This, however, must not be taken to detract anything from the fine golf played by the champion, who shot a 71 for the morning round, playing par golf and gaining a lead of four up in the first nine.

Thomas was a bit off the line in his afternoon start, pulling his drive into the rough, where he took a spoon and sent his second into the ditch, taking four to be on and six to be down. Brynjolfsson winning with a five, and Uplands members were hoping their men would wipe off the lead, but when he drove the second green and then took three putts for a half and bunkered his second shot at the next and made a seven, following up with a five at the short fourth, hopes faded. Thomas did the fifth in three, the seventh in four and the ninth in two, which brought him to dormie, the match ending at the next hole, which he won with a four.

Heppburn a Winner
The only home club members to figure on the prize list were H. F. Heppburn, who won the first flight, and S. H. de Carteret, who drove the longest ball in the driving competition held after the finals of the championship were decided. At the conclusion President F. G. Powles, of the Uplands club, presented the prizes and suitably congratulated the winners.

FIRPO ORDERED TO TRAIN IN NEW YORK

Promoter Rickard Directs Him to Leave Camp at Saratoga Springs—Deportation Charges Worry

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine heavyweight, left Saratoga Springs for New York tonight to finish his training for his match with Harry Wills, scheduled for Boyle's Thirty Acres, in Jersey City, on September 11, at Madison Square Garden. The Argentine is abandoning his Saratoga Springs camp at the direction of Tex Rickard, promoter, who ordered him to New York to finish his training.

"The promoters have been pestering him unmercifully during the past week concerning deportation charges which are hanging over his head, and his state of mind is such that he cannot concentrate on his training."

Rickard added that he did not believe the legal tangle in which Firpo finds himself will cause any change in the match with Harry Wills.

LYNES IS WINNER OF MEDAL ROUND

WINS AT MACAULEY AFTER TIE WITH FINDLAY

Close Fight On for Club Championship on Equimatch Links—Average Scores Gratifying

A number of very good scores were turned in on Monday for the qualifying round of the Macauley Point Golf Club's championship. G. M. Lynes won the medal after a tie with A. D. Findlay, each making the eighteen holes in 77. An extra nine were played to decide the tie and Lynes won with a score of 40 to 41. F. Caldwell, last year's winner of the club championship, was one stroke behind the leaders, followed closely by N. J. Wilson, who came down to play his round after winning the second flight at Uplands in the city championship tournament in a match which went to the twenty-first hole.

There were forty-six entrants and the average scoring was good, distinctly better than last year, a fact very gratifying to the officials and members of the club and due, no doubt, to a large extent, to the great improvement which has been recently made in the course and playing conditions. Wilson, by the way, was not the only Macauley Point man to get in the prize list at Uplands. W. H. C. Brandon winning the third flight.

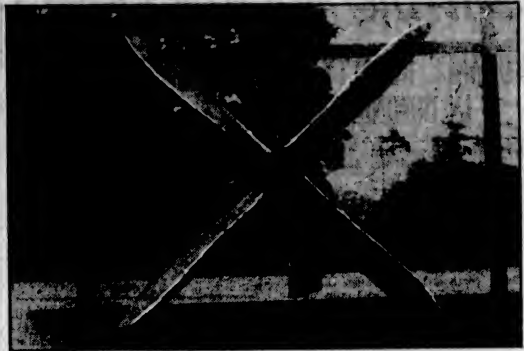

The full list of scores in the qualifying round follows:

Open Air Fish Market Closed

VANCOUVER, Sept. 2.—Fish are no longer to be sold at the city open air market in Main Street. Objection by property owners to the smells occasioned by the fish stall prevailed upon the City Council market and exhibition committee. It was resolved that the fish stall should be closed.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

The Wanderers
We only meant to step aside
A stride or two—we turned, and then
We found that we had lost our way—
Now can we find the road again?

The crowds are greater than we dreamed—
The lights are blinding in their glow;
And all the morning lanes we knew
Are lost, no matter where we go.

The quiet lanes of peace and rest,
Of old content from out the fight
Are lost amid the ghostly years
That come to haunt us in the night.

We meant to hear old voices call
In friendliness as old friends pass,
But still we saw the flame of fame
That beckons through the snarling mass.

We heard the drums. We only meant
To take a stride or two, and then
We found that we had lost the way—
How can we find the road again?

Your Eye on the Ball

"When I am hitting well," Ty Cobb told us recently, "I am following the ball up to the moment I connect. I don't let it leave my sight for half a second. Once the eye is off the ball a base hit is an accident."

"Watch Tilden and Johnston," remarked a veteran tennis player. "Their eyes never leave the ball. Most of the mistakes in tennis come from looking away too quickly."

You know what happens in golf when the eyes come up with the lifted head. To see where the ball is going.

Knowing all this, why doesn't the player always keep his eyes on the ball? Mainly because his mind isn't there. If one is thinking of where an opponent is, or the top of the net, or where the second baseman is playing, or a bunker or pond just ahead, the eye is pretty sure to follow the lead of the brain.

Concentration is keeping your mind on the actual performance—not on the result.

Firpo, for example, is a star concentrator. He is thinking of socking an opponent with his right fist at the earliest possible moment, and of little else. Apparently he has no particular thought of what an opponent may do to him. "He may be clumsy," said Dempsey, "but he can hit you with that right. It was the hardest right hand to duck or block or sidestep I ever met." Neither Firpo nor Dempsey could ever star as a defensive fighter, since both are entirely concentrated on attack. And few minds are nimble enough to think in two directions at the same time.

TRYING TO BRING PEACE IN SOCCER

Dominion Association Makes Overtures to Canadian Body—Professionalism Is Discussed

CALGARY, Sept. 2.—At the annual convention of the Dominion Football Association, held here today, a committee was appointed to confer with the Canadian Football Association in Toronto on Thursday in an effort to bring peace in soccer affairs. An invitation has been wired to Canadian Football Association officials. The committee appointed in the Dominion Football Association is composed of John Easton, president of the Dominion Football Association; Sam Davidson, secretary; H. W. Scrymgeour, Winnipeg; Harvey Berland, Moose Jaw; C. M. Small, Edmonton; Norman Crouch, Winnipeg; James Keith, Montreal; and James Adam, Victoria.

The constitution committee wrestled with the problem of professionalism in soccer without arriving at any decision, and the matter was referred back to the full meeting without a recommendation. It is expected that the meeting will conclude tomorrow.

NANAIMO TENNIS

American Tournament Events Won by Miss Rogers and Rev. S. Ryall

NANAIMO, Sept. 1.—An American tennis tournament was played here on Saturday last between sixteen members of the Central Sports Lawn Tennis Club. The first prize for ladies was won by Miss Ethel Rogers, while the Rev. S. Ryall captured first for gentlemen.

Following the tournament Rev. Ryall, on behalf of the club, presented the various winners with prizes in the annual club tournament, which was concluded several days ago. The winners were as follows: Sloan cup, emblematic of the championship in the men's singles, won by W. T. Mason; runner-up, F. A. Hanna; Forceman cup, men's singles handicap, won by Eric Peio; runner-up, W. T. Mason; first prize in men's doubles, E. Peio and R. Mills; runners-up, L. Knox and S. Mills.

Refreshments were served in the clubhouse, and an enjoyable social time was spent.

Sumptuous Scenes in "Her Love Story" With Gloria Swanson, This Week

Romance and royalty, love and mother-love, sumptuous settings and gorgeous gowns, a warm, pulsating story, attractively filmed and expertly directed, and the centre of it all, surrounded by a tip-top cast—Gloria Swanson! These are the component parts that go to make up an hour and a half's solid entertainment, and they are assembled in one photoplay, "Her Love Story" which was shown for the first time in Victoria Monday night at the Dominion Theatre.

It will be many a day before the screen sees another story of such absorbing interest, tingling thrill and colorful backgrounds. Mary Roberts Rinehart is responsible for the story which originally appeared in the Cosmopolitan Magazine under the title "Her Majesty the Queen," and Frank Tuttle adapted it to the screen. It concerns the life and love story of a fascinating little princess whose beauty attracts the attention of the King of a neighboring country. In spite of the fact that she is in love with another, a handsome captain of the guards, she is compelled to marry the King. Later she gives birth to an heir—the son of her captain-lover, whom she had secretly married. Too honest to live a lie she tells the King the truth. From that point the picture develops several sensational situations which eventually lead to a happy ending.

"LILY OF THE DUST" STARS POLA NEGRI

Pola Negri's latest Paramount star picture, "Lily of the Dust," a Dimitri Buchowetzki production, was shown for the first time in Victoria at the Capitol Theatre Monday. This picture reveals Miss Negri in a role radically different from anything she has ever attempted on the screen. Here she has essayed the heartless, fiery vamp, but in this one it is another thing again. She plays the role of a real lovable woman—even you and I.

The screen play is based upon Paul Bern's adaptation of the powerful story and play, "The Songs of Songs." It concerns the adventures of a poverty-stricken girl whose beauty is the cause of all her misfortunes. Despite her innate goodness, she is compelled by circumstances over which she has no control, to accept the unwelcome attentions of men. She tries again and again to set a new foothold and escape the clutches of a man who is determined to have her. But even her affections and kindnesses spread snares for her. The plot works up to a smashing climax which marches on to a happy and logical ending.

From the moment the film begins to unwind on the screen, Pola's vivid personality dominates the picture. She is by turns, tender and wistful, vital and cyclonic. Her zeal, her earnestness and sincerity make you forget that she is merely playing a part.

COLUMBIA It seems—judging from THEATRE one of the hilarious scenes in the picture, "Old Bill Through the Ages" showing at the Columbia Theatre this week—that William the Conqueror had a very sunny and effective manner of dealing with tax-grubblers. He didn't argue with them, or summon them, or imprison them. He just had a look at the culprit, gave him a little extra strolling, and then laid about him with a gusto that soon stretched the tax-payers (or non-payers) in a bunch at his feet. His only comment on this condition punishment was in the form of an advertisement, which ran as follows: "Several castles to let. Vacant possession. Most, dungeons and all modern conveniences. Owners gone West." We are afraid the country is hardly yet ripe for these methods of "frightfulness" in the collecting. The incident—one of many excruciatingly comical ones in the film—keeps the audience laughing heartily. It is a thoroughly fresh and really enjoyable entertainment produced from a special story by Captain Bruce Bairnsfather, and with the well-known comedian, Syd Walker, playing Old Bill to the manner born.

PLAYHOUSE It was with the keenest joy that we learned that James Whitcomb Riley's most delightful poem, "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," was to be made into a photoplay, but we admit our joy was tempered by fear. We were afraid because we realized the extreme difficulty of transferring the spirit of the immortal lyric to the screen. Monday, however, we saw this Metro film at the Playhouse Theatre, and gladly do we herald the fact that our fears were not realized. The spirit of the poem is in the picture—and what more, the theme has been skillfully developed into a moving, appealing story full of thrill and tenderness, pathos and humor. It has a high dramatic appeal. The photoplay contains those very elements which are in all of James Whitcomb Riley's poetry, and which were in the man himself—wholesome sentiment and homely charm. The leading roles are played by Elliott Dexter and Helen Giddy. They have obtained two players better fitted for the parts. Both roles demand versatile talent and very definite power. Mr. Dexter and Miss Giddy have abundance. They really live their parts.

PANTAGES Probably no better example of the ingenious love vulture was ever presented on the screen than that portrayed by Eric von Stroheim in his new photodrama of the Alps, "Blind Husbands," the Universal Jewel de Luxe which came to the Pantages Theatre Monday night. Von Stroheim is seen as Lieut. Eric von Steuben, late of the Austrian army, who had been invalided because of shell shock and was sent to a little mountain resort on the Austro-Italian frontier. There he meets Margaret Armstrong, wife of a famous American surgeon who with her husband also comes to the Alps for a rest. Professional interests so engross the doctor's mind that he forgets to perform those little attentions that keep a wife's love burning. Von Steuben is looking for just such an opportunity. He shows her the unsuspecting wife counting on little courtesies. She almost falls a victim to his wiles before the husband awakens. Stroheim wrote, directed and stars in the picture, supported by Francella Billington. Sam DeGrasse in a strong characterization is seen as Dr. Armstrong.

Victoria Command of G.W.V.A. Conducts Successful Excursion to Everett—Pass U.S. Fleet

Nearly eight hundred Victorians had a thoroughly enjoyable outing on Labor Day when they went on the Great War Veterans' Association excursion to Everett, Washington. The C.P.R. steamer Princess Adelaide carried the large crowd of holiday-makers, and there was no doing on board both going to and coming back from the Sound city.

Ideal weather conditions aided in making the excursion a success. The Princess Adelaide steamed out of the local harbor at 9:30 a.m., arriving in Everett about 3 o'clock. During the stay there, the Victoria Juvenile Pipe Band, which played selections aboard the vessel on the trip, paraded the streets, making a fine impression upon the Americans, while the excursionists inspected the town.

See American Fleet

The outstanding feature of the Labor Day excursion was the sighting and passing of the American fleet, two miles out of Everett. Greetings were exchanged by Admiral Coontz, in command of the fleet of ships and destroyers, and the G.W.V.A., while the American vessels dipped their flags in token of respect for the Canadians and the veterans of the Canadian and Imperial armies, who were aboard the Princess Adelaide.

The concert party, headed by Messrs. Dave Dumbleton and Ernie Impett entertained the patrons of the event with a fine programme of music and songs, and little Miss Beck contributed much appreciated classical dances, while those who cared to indulge in the popular diversionment of

Studebaker Owners Endorse Union Non-Detonating Gasoline

How Would You Make This Gasoline?

WHAT would you do?—if you had at your command plenty of capital, facilities of the most modern kind, a highly experienced staff of able chemists, and had, in addition to these qualifications, a great reputation at stake? Would you make the best gasoline possible under the circumstances?

We believe, if you were in our place, you would make Union Gasoline—just as Union is made today.

You would believe in it as we believe in it, to the extent that you would select it for your car always.

The better gasolines render better service in any motor. Union Gasoline has the quality of non-detonation which means less tendency toward "knocking" on hills, and in slow, heavy pulls, quicker acceleration, and a smoother, more vibrationless speed.

You owe the best fuel to the modern motor which is so well constructed today. Don't waste its good qualities in the purchase of an inferior gasoline.

All For Research

The Research and Development Department of the Union Oil Company is an institution in itself.

It watches and guards processes, checks the performance of Union Oil Products, tests and compares fuels and lubricants made by others, devises improvements, and suggests savings by which quality may be raised at no greater expense to consumers.

It is the "Insurance Department" of the Union Oil Company—insuring the leadership of Union Gasoline to the benefit of its users.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Grand Trunk debentures advanced to 63 1/2 today, this being the highest quotation for the debentures since 1919. The rise in the price is the outcome of the official announcement that dividends will be payable at the end of the month. The holders of G. T. P. debentures say they see no reason why

EDISON MAZDA LAMPS

Reduction in Price

EFFECTIVE September 1st, the price of 25 and 40-watt Edison Mazda Lamps will be reduced from 37 cents to 32 cents.

This is the second price reduction this year, and consistently follows our policy of providing the public with the best possible lamp at the lowest possible price.

While the cost of nearly every commodity is greater than before the war, the price of Edison Mazda Lamps has steadily come down—in 1920 they were sold for 50 cents, while the same lamp to-day costs you only 32 cents.

The Latest Lamp Achievement

Insist on Edison Mazda, and thus insure obtaining lamps of the highest efficiency, embodying the latest improvements—for example, the tipless bulb.

New Prices
Vacuum Type
25 Watts . . . 32 cents
40 Watts . . . 32 cents
50 Watts . . . 32 cents
Gas Filled
50 Watts . . . 50 cents
75 Watts . . . 55 cents
100 Watts . . . 65 cents

Now you are an Edison Mazda Lamp store, ready to supply the yellow and blue cartons. These you will obtain lamps that will give the best service, and in the end the least money.

Civil War Is Near In China Republic; Peking Is in Peril

Early Fall of Central Government Is Predicted as Unrest Grows and Chang Tso Lin Arms to Seek Revenge—Agreement to Pay France Rest of Indemnity in Gold Francs Fans Flame

POLITICAL TANGLE INVOLVES MANY HOSTILE FACTIONS

PEKING, Aug. 30.—Civil war on a gigantic scale is confidently predicted in China within the next six months. It may be called a "War of Reunification" by some high-minded patriots, but in reality it will be a war of revenge, with all the latest embellishments, including poison gas, aeroplane raids, artillery

The lineup will be as follows: Marshal Chang Tso-lin, war lord of Manchuria and director of the three eastern provinces, against General Wu Pei-fu, who at the present time has considerably more power than President Tao K'un and is military dictator of the Central Government, which is the only Government recognized by the foreign powers.

Marshal Chang has manoeuvred for the last six months to enter into an agreement with the Government of the South, controlled by fact by Dr. Sun Yat Sen, whose power is fast slipping after his last paralytic stroke. A working arrangement has been concluded between Marshal Chang and Dr. Sun, whereby a concentrated attack will be directed against the Central Government from both North and South simultaneously as soon as sufficient war munitions can be shipped from Mukden to Canton.

At the present writing it would appear that the Central Government is doomed and that history will be repeated as the Northern hordes sweep down through the Northwest passes and capture Peking.

The time is ripe for an attack on the Central Government. The Peking Government during the last two years has been little more than a skeleton organization, ever since the war in the Spring of 1922, when Chang Tso-lin was driven outside the great wall and took up his position in Mukden. Smarting under this heavy defeat, Marshal Chang has been planning a war of revenge, and to that end has constructed the largest and most modern arsenal in the Far East. This arsenal has a capacity for turning out considerably more than a thousand shells a week to fit the "18-pounders," a large quantity of howitzer and "155s" and 7,000 Stokes mortar bombs a day. The heads of all departments are munition experts recruited from Europe, principally from Germany. There is a fleet of fifty-five aeroplanes, including fast combat Biplanes, Fokkers and Vickers Vimy bombers. There are three large aviation camps, one at Mukden, one at Newcamp, and a third, north of Huiatou, on the coast. Nine foreign instructors are training a picked corps of cadets and already some remarkable records have been made.

Why is the time ripe for an attack?

The whole of intra-mural China is disaffected with the Central Government because of its attitude regarding the foreign powers. Three weeks ago the most important decision was made since China became a republic, and probably the most unpopular news of this decision has been spread to a great extent because the Central Government fears an immediate revolution.

After a diplomatic fight lasting more than eighteen months, China (i. e., the Peking Government), has acceded to the demands of France and has agreed to pay the remainder of the Boxer indemnity to France in gold francs.

To America, which has just remitted the unpaid portion of the Boxer indemnity to China in the form of magnanimity, this decision may be regarded in the light of a triviale. However, to the Chinese it is of the utmost importance. Three weeks ago the most important decision was made since China became a republic, and probably the most unpopular news of this decision has been spread to a great extent because the Central Government fears an immediate revolution.

Without going into the whole question of the payment of the indemnity to France, it will mean a loss to China of between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000. Because China refused steadily to make the payment in gold francs, after the moratorium of four years after war as agreed by treaty, France refused to ratify the Washington conference proposals regarding raising of a customs conference to raise the customs duties, thereby materially increasing China's revenue. China agreed all along to pay the indemnity in paper francs, according to the stipulations of the 1901 protocol, but after the war francs had dropped to such an extent that France insisted upon her rights, that the money be paid in the equivalent of gold francs, since all the other nations were paid in gold. It should be explained that at the time of the protocol, paper francs were equivalent to gold and that no differentiation was made.

This issue came to a head with the resumption of payments following the moratorium granted China after her entry into the World War and has been fought most bitterly ever since, as the Cabinet was divided over the whole issue. The Finance Minister, Mr. Wang Keh-min, and the Premier, Sun Pao-chi, have been at loggerheads over the question of payment, with the result that no constructive legislation has been accomplished since last Autumn.

Finally, the Finance Minister, won by contending that the sanction of France to calling the customs conference and thereby increasing the revenues of the country, would more than offset the payment to France in gold.

A secret agreement was made with France, and today I believe that there are not more than ten of the highest Government officials know the terms of the treaty. Various rumors have appeared in the local press, but each has been denied by the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The terms of the treaty are as follows, which were agreed upon with M. de Fleuryau de night before his departure for France from Peking on July 15: That China agree to the payment of the indemnity to France in gold, provided another two years' extension is granted, and that this money be loaned to China during the interim to be used for the reflation of the Banque Industrielle; to be carried out according to the agreement signed in 1922. Parenthetically it should be stated that many of the largest stockholders of the Banque were Chinese in the activities of the company as a trial test and it reserves the right to withdraw whenever it sees fit. In that event, of course, the company will be forced to disband.

Wholesale trade must be the monopoly of the government syndicates. This apparently is the clear policy of the Communists.

By attacking and destroying private trade the Government foregoes considerable income through taxation. It is notorious that private stores are subjected to exorbitant taxes, the total of which, provided the Government gave private trade free rein, could quickly put the state budget and all state enterprises on Easy Street.

Nevertheless, the Bolsheviks are bent on exterminating private trade, or at least on limiting its scope.

How successful the anti-capitalist activities of the government have been may be judged from information which reaches the writer from various sections of the country. In the Donetz coal basin, as a result of the growth of the co-operatives, all private wholesalers have been driven from the market. In the city of Tula, thirty-four private shops were recently forced to close their doors. A meeting of the wives of workmen in Kiev solemnly promised to boycott private traders. In Chernigov the co-operatives are slowly getting the better of private merchants. Even the peasants who come to town have commenced to patronize the co-operatives.

To be sure, private trade is very resistant and virile. The struggle will be hard and long and it will surprise no one to find, when the year is finished and the accounts made, that private trade has stood its ground comparatively well.

Finally found health in Kellogg's Bran after suffering long with constipation

Mr. Patch writes that Kellogg's Bran "solved his problem." It has solved the problem of constipation—mild and chronic—for thousands of others. It has brought relief when all else has failed because Kellogg's Bran is ALL Bran. Nothing but ALL Bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read Mr. Patch's letter.

Dear Sirs:
I have been a constant sufferer from constipation and have wondered what was the cause of it. I have tried about all the cereals I could think of, and finally tried Kellogg's Bran. This solved my problem. I feel ten per cent better and I owe it to your Bran. . . . Thanking you very kindly for the great cereal, I am,
Very respectfully,
Chester C. Patch,
(Address on Request.)
For the permanent relief of constipation, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly—two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestines. It rids them of the dangerous poisons that lead to other diseases. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and crumbled, is delicious with milk or cream. You will like its nut-like flavor—so different from ordinary, tasteless bran. Sprinkle it over the cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Eat it in Kellogg's Bran muffins, griddle cakes and many other wonderful recipes given on the package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and crumbled, is made in Toronto, Canada and is served by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. It is sold by all grocers.

The Tag That Pins Them Down

SNIYDER'S Sani-Bilt guarantee pins down the manufacturers of Sani-Bilt Living Room Furniture to certain definite statements, for which we are responsible and from which we cannot get away.

One of these statements is that Snyder's Sani-Bilt Furniture is mothproof. When we say mothproof, we mean mothproof. We don't mean mothproof for a season. We mean that absolutely every particle of attraction for moths has been removed from Sani-Bilt Furniture. There is no other process that gives you absolute immunity from moths and no other upholstered furniture manufacturers in Canada have the right to use this process.

And we are furthermore pinned down. We guarantee sound and strong construction, and fresh, new, sanitary fillings (not renovated).

They Can't Get Away From It

Snyder's Sani-Bilt guarantee also pins down the manufacturers of all other furniture claimed as "mothproof". Is their furniture mothproof, or is it not mothproof? It is no use them saying it is the same as Sani-Bilt. There is no other process like the Sani-Bilt process. There is no use them saying it is "practically" mothproof or "mothproof for a certain length of time". Is it absolutely mothproof? Will the effect of their powders and sprays last as long as the furniture? Is it poisonous? Does it dry into dust which a vacuum cleaner sucks away? Or does it evaporate into the air like gasoline and its solutions? The Sani-Bilt process is non-poisonous, does not evaporate, is non-odorless, leaves no stain, cannot be weakened by any cleaning process.

Make Sure it is Sani-Bilt

When furniture dealers show you upholstered furniture, it is only fair to pin them down, also. Is it Sani-Bilt? Demand to see the guarantee. Read this guarantee and make sure it is the Sani-Bilt guarantee, and not an imitation or a mere evasion. The Sani-Bilt guarantee tag on every Sani-Bilt piece pins imitators and their selling agents down to absolute facts, just as it pins us down.

Look, also, for the Sani-Bilt trade mark label under the Marshall Spring Cushions.

Leading dealers will show you Sani-Bilt Furniture to suit your taste, whatever the price you want to pay. If you have any difficulty, write us.

STOCKS DISPLAYED IRREGULAR CLOSING

Prices Fluctuate During Session After Strong Opening Followed by Resumption of Profit Taking

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Stock prices advanced in today's relatively dull session, closing quotations showing a curious mixture of gains and losses. Opening prices were strong as a result of a fairly large accumulation of week-end buying orders, prompted by the progress made in putting the Dawes plan into effect and increasing indications of a revival in trade. When these orders had been executed the market turned dull, inviting a resumption of profit-taking and short selling. All offerings were well absorbed and the market stiffened after midday, only to run off again at the close.

One of the most interesting features of the session was the advance in call money, which had ruled unchanged at 2 per cent since July 8, to 2 1/2 per cent and thence to 3, where it closed.

Government Financing
Increases generally were attributed to the heavy first of the month requirements, the preparations for the Government's billion dollar turn-over September 15, and the flow of funds to the interior for crop moving purposes. Time money rates also stiffened slightly, sixty to ninety-day loans on mixed collateral being quoted at 3 1/2 to 4 instead of 2 1/2 to 3, and the four to six month maturities ruling at 3 1/2 to 3 3/4. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

BEARISH NEWS PUTS PRAIRIE PRICE DOWN

Early Frost Reports Boon Prices, But Later News Had Reverse Effect at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Sept. 2.—The Winnipeg market opened sharply higher today when shorts were covering on reports of frost in the Canadian West and on higher Liverpool cables, but when the steady demand was satisfied and when it was evident that frost damage had not been serious, the market eased off. All wheat futures closed 1 1/2 cents below Saturday's last figures, prices having weakened during the closing minutes of the session.

Australia Lowers Own Transpacific Record

Makes Trip From Yokohama to Victoria in 10 Days 17 Hours and 32 Minutes, Averaging 16.4 Knots an Hour—Former Best Time 16.2 Knots—Encounters Typhoon in China Sea—Has Light Passenger List but Much Cargo

On docking from the Orient at 7 o'clock last night, twelve hours ahead of schedule, the Canadian Pacific Empress of Australia, Captain A. J. Halley commanding, reduced her own speed record by nine hours and sixteen minutes. From Yokohama breakwater to Race Rocks she averaged 16.4 knots an hour. Her previous best rate was 16.2 knots an hour.

Leaving Yokohama 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, August 23, the Empress of Australia made the trip from the Orient in 10 days 17 hours and 32 minutes, and would have even cut this time down by two hours had she not run into dense fog just outside the strait. Captain Halley thought it possible to make port by 4 o'clock until he ran into fog. Her former record was 11 days 3 hours and 48 minutes. It was under the command of Captain A. J. Halley that the C.P.S. Empress of Canada won the speed record of the Pacific.

The captain reported a very fair trip from Japan but rough weather in the China Sea. En route to Kobe his ship had to run away from the worst typhoon since 1917, when some 200,000 people were destroyed near Tokyo. The wind at times reached a velocity of 46 metres a minute during the recent typhoon.

Heavy Cargo Carried

The Empress of Australia brought a list of nearly 300 passengers. There were 291 all told. They comprised seventy-one first class and eighty second class passengers. The remainder comprised third class and steerage passengers.

Cargo aboard the vessel amounted to nearly 3,000 tons, including a large shipment of silk and hemp. There were 1,050 tons of overland freight for transshipment at Vancouver, while for discharge at Victoria there were 150 tons of cargo.

The mail consignment for Victoria amounted to forty-three bags, but 357 were discharged here in addition to that. This is for transshipment to Seattle. Fourteen bags will be taken by aircraft.

Among the prominent passengers on board were: Mr. J. Pieringer, of the Foreign Legation at Tokyo, returning to the Foreign Office at Prague, Czechoslovakia; Mr. M. Berger, prominent importer and exporter of Tientsin, en route to New York to establish an agency and thence to London, accompanied by his wife; Mr. W. E. Laumann, buyer for the American Importing Company, of San Francisco, en route to California; Mr. T. Kakimoto and Mr. M. Mikami, both Japanese Government officials, who are en route to Europe but have not yet been given their definite destination; Mr. Frederick Law, a journalist of Brooklyn, N.Y.; and Mr. C. W. Burkill, one of the wealthiest residents of Shanghai and by far their best jockey.

While at Kobe Captain Halley received a letter of appreciation from the Kagoshima Prefecture for rescuing two Japanese sailors on May 31.

EXCURSION RATES TO BE EXTENDED

P.S.N. Company Extends Excursion Rates Until September 14—Motor Princess Schedule Changed

Announcement was made yesterday at the Canadian Pacific Navigation Company's office, that the mid-week and week-end excursion rates on the Port Angeles and Anacortes ferries would be continued until September 14. This means that the ferries will probably be maintained until the end of the month.

Labor Day proved to be a busy one on the new Port Angeles ferry. Over seventy-six cars were handled during the day on the Port Angeles ferry.

NO MORE ASTHMA AND HAY FEVER!

"I want every Asthma sufferer in this city to try my treatment entirely at my risk," Dr. Schiffmann announces. "Go to your druggist and get a package of my Asthmador and, should it fail to give instant relief, the druggist will cheerfully refund your money without any question whatever." The doctor says further: "No matter how violent the attack, how obstinate the case, or what else has failed, my Asthmador or Asthmador Cigarettes will give instant relief, usually in ten seconds, but always within 15 minutes. Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials abundantly prove what my remedy has done, and I know it will do the same for others. I am so positively certain that it will produce instant relief and will be found the best remedy ever used that I have no fears of authorizing these druggists to give this guarantee, or of their being called upon for the refunding of money."

No risk whatever is run in buying this remedy under the positive guarantee, and such a personal trial will prove more conclusively than a "free sample" could possibly prove.

while over 2,000 passengers used the Olympic during the week-end.

Local officials expected that they would reach the hundred mark on Labor Day in the carrying of cars, but considerable traffic which would have gone over the Port Angeles ferry went on the Labor Day excursion to Everett.

The Canadian Pacific Motor Princess will only make one and a half trips today, while tomorrow the vessel will resume the single run schedule. The service may be discontinued on September 15, but if traffic keeps up at the present rate, the service will be continued until the end of the month.

The time used for the standard for the 100th Meridian west, is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight. The figures in the table serve to distinguish High Water from Low Water. Where blank space occurs in the table the tide is continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot above the level of lower low water.

To find the depth of water at the height of the drydock at any time add 18.5 to the height of High Water as above given.

FIRST MOTORSHIP DUE THIS SPRING

NEW HARRISON DIRECT LINES WILL IMPROVE U.K. SERVICE

Seven New Motorships Are Being Built for the Pacific Coast—United Kingdom Run

Announcement was made yesterday regarding the seven new motorships being built by the Harrison-Scott Line for their United Kingdom-Pacific Coast service. It was stated here yesterday that the first of these new liners will be sent to this Coast the early part of next Spring, and that the entire fleet of seven motorships will be completed within the next two years.

These liners will be almost twice the size of the ones now being used in this service. They will be 8,500 tons gross, and will have a speed of 20 knots. The Governor is a vessel of 5,571 tons gross and 410 feet long. This will give the line a considerable advantage over the present steamships of the line in the matter of carrying capacity. Considerable refrigeration space will be installed in the new motorships.

The steamship is reported due here about September 27 from the Old Country. Cargo offerings closed August 16 at Glasgow, and it is thought that she will depart from that port about August 29. This should bring her here about one and a half months after her departure.

FIRST DESCRIPTION OF N.Y.K. LINERS

NEW SHIPS TO BE EQUIPPED WITH DIESEL ENGINES

Are Being Built on Clyde and Will Be 180 Feet Long, 37-Foot Beam and 38.7-Foot Depth

Further information was received here today on the two new Nippon Yusen Kaisha liners that are to be placed on the transpacific run next year.

The vessels are to be equipped with Diesel engines, and are now under construction on the Clyde. They will be 180 feet long, with a beam of 37 feet and depth of 38.7 feet.

There will be plenty of accommodation for passengers, and the cargo-carrying capacity will be 5,500 tons of general. Both liners will be delivered in Japan the latter part of this year and sent to this Coast the early part of Spring.

MANILA MARU DUE HERE NEXT WEEK

ONE DAY BEHIND SCHEDULE, DUE TO DELAY IN ORIENT

Has Hundred Tons Cargo for Discharge Here, and Very Light Passenger List

Rutherford's Consolidated, local agents for the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, reported yesterday the sailing of the Manila Maru from Yokohama on August 28, instead of August 26, as is indicated on the schedule. This will bring the vessel in on September 5, one day behind schedule, which calls for her arrival here on September 7.

The vessel has some 100 tons of cargo to discharge here, while for Vancouver she has 150 tons of measurement cargo. The Seattle consignment is reported to be a large one.

There is a very light passenger list aboard the liner this trip. All told, there are only twenty-five passengers. Of this total twelve steerage passengers are for Victoria and nine for Seattle and four first class for Seattle.

Her delay, it is thought, was caused through typhoons encountered in the China Sea. The bad weather in the Orient has set back several of the companies' schedules. Further information regarding the O. S. K. transpacific policy, now that the N. Y. K. is placing two new liners on the run, is expected to be received on the arrival of the Manila Maru.
